Would Purify the Ballot.

The report cited the four states in the union which now grant equal rights to women and predicted the purification of the ballot when universal suffrage was granted.

In the matter of a change in the system of electing all officials of the state and national government, the council went into detail in explaining the workings of the initiative and referendum system of popular election of all officials.

The seating of C. P. Shea, president of the Teamsters union of Chicago as a delegate today is looked upon by the International Association of Steam Fitters as a big card for them in their fight for a federation charter, as Shea, who has been joined by other delegates, will help them in the convention.

BROWN-CORLISS ENGINE COMPANY IN BANKRUPTCY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 14.—A petition in involuntary bankruptcy against the Brown-Corliss Engine company, of Corliss, Wis., was filed today by creditors, and the Fidelity Trust company was appointed receiver. The engine company was incorporated in 1901 with Walter F. Brown, Walter S. Whiting and Julius Wechselberg as incorporators. The capital stock was placed at $1,000,000.

"Alaska will yet be one of ... stable influences in our ... development, in the hour ... strain in sustaining the ... our government, because of ... quantities of precious ... commercial metals which that country is capable of producing."

President Richards paid tribute to the work of the geological survey, but said it was not large enough, and a mining survey, with plenty of men, should be devoted to the work of the miner. He hoped to see the con[illegible] established in its permanent home in Denver, and urged that the same be fitted with a mining library, ore cabinets, maps, and all conveniences for the miner.

"Many tell us that they are waiting to see what the American Mining [illegible] amounts to before they lend their [illegible]," said President Richards.

"Our glorious country would not now be the light of the world had all acted on this theory. Take hold, miners, and make this organization an instrument through which all can speak with a right to be heard."

Resolutions Introduced.

Resolutions were introduced urging the creation of a department of mines by congress; urging congress to pass laws providing for the location of mines on Spanish land grants in Arizona and New Mexico, titles to which have been confirmed by the government court of land claims, and urging the hydrographic bureau to properly locate all desert water holes and erect metal posts in their vicinity that will indicate their direction. It is also urged that rangers be provided to keep such water free from pollution.

All the resolutions were referred to a committee. President James Douglas of the Phelps-Dodge interests in Arizona invited the entire congress to become his guests on a special train for Bisbee and Douglas.

WARFORD SEEKS HABEAS CORPUS

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—Habeas corpus proceedings brought to free James Warford, who is held for the murder of Ike Lebo at Goldfield in November of last year, were argued at length in the district court tonight, but without result favorable to Warford. It was contended for Warford that he was entitled to freedom on the ground that two terms of court had passed without his trial. It was maintained by the state that Warford had been held on other charges and that the charge of murder had not been filed until recently and within the period of proper trial. The case against Warford in which he is charged with the murder of Chris Miller was nolled. Miller and Lebo were killed at the same time. Mrs. Lebo has become the complaining witness in the remaining case.

GOES TO JAIL FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—Chas. Wilson, convicted of contempt of court, was today sentenced by Judge Seeds in the district court to pay the costs and spend ten days in the county jail. Wilson threatened Charles Spinner, a juror in the Fightmaster-Smith case, after the second trial. His punishment was postponed several days ago because of illness in his family. Wilson today reported for sentence, which was at once imposed.

MINING TOWN BURNED.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 14.—Burk, McDowell county, a mining town of 2,000 population about 450 miles from here was destroyed by fire early this morning.

FORMER VICE PRESIDENT OF EQUITABLE LIFE AS WITNESS

"Jimmy" Hyde Gives Sensational Testimony Regarding the Inner Workings of the Life Insurance Business, and Fires a Few Hot Shot at Alexander and Others.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—James Hazen Hyde, former vice president of the Equitable Life, whose resignation followed the sensational disclosures in that company last spring, which led to the investigation of insurance companies' methods by the Armstrong committee, the man whose presence as a witness before this committee had been looked forward to in the expectation that it would produce the greatest sensation of the investigation, appeared before the commission today. Mr. Hyde's manner on the stand was one of composure and deliberation and his replies to questions from counsel were calm and deliberate and ofttimes studied. He was fortified with statements and data and was very frank in his explanations. Frequently he would become bitter in his reference to some of his associates, while his entire testimony was of deep interest and cleared up many points that have heretofore remained in the dark. It was not until late in the day that the sensational features of his testimony were developed.

Large Crowds Present.

Mr. Hyde was called to the stand shortly after the session opened this morning and was under examination all day until a few minutes before adjournment was taken. In anticipation of his presence as a witness there was a greater crowd than has attended the sessions of the committee heretofore and extra police were stationed in the corridor to keep order.

Mr. Hyde cleared up the matter of the $685,000 loan of the Mercantile Trust company which appeared on the books of the Equitable Life under the caption of the "J. W. Alexander No. 3 account."

Mr. Hyde first heard of this account in the fall of 1902, when it was called to his attention by President Alexander, who said that he and Mr. Jordan had incurred the loan to take up stock that was being bid up to fictitious values to the detriment of the company; to settle suits that were hampering the business of the society and for campaign contributions. This contribution was the one to the last campaign and was asked for by Mr. Frick, who suggested it for the benefit of the society.

Hyde Shows Bitterness.

To procure this money Mr. Alexander had Mr. Hyde write a letter to the president of the Mercantile Trust company and this letter practically placed him in the position of a guarantor. Later, when the settlement of the loan was forced, Mr. Alexander and Mr. Jordan raised all they could toward it. The stock purchased with part of the loan was sold to Thomas F. Ryan for $212,000 and the balance, $212,500, Mr. Hyde paid personally. He did this because he understood that Mr. Alexander was financially embarrassed, and in a bitter tone said:

"Notwithstanding the strained relations with these two gentlemen (Alexander and Jordan) I felt bound to see that the debt was liquidated by reason of the letter Mr. Alexander extracted from me."

Mr. Hyde said that he first received a salary of $30,000 seven years ago. When he became chairman of the finance committee in 1902 this was advanced to $75,000 and in 1903 it was advanced to $100,000.

Gives Some Figures.

Mr. Hyde presented a statement showing that in the seven years of his connection with the Equitable Life his average income had been only a little more than $38,000 a year. His salary for seven years amounted to $435,000 from which he deducted his losses in syndicate transactions, amounting to $28,615, and the $212,500 paid on the $685,000 loan, which left a balance of $193,885, or an average annual income of $27,697, to which was added the average income from his offices in the trust companies of $10,500. Witness said he presented this statement to show that he had been misrepresented.

The instructions to Mr. Jordan and Mr. Fields were referred to today, but Mr. Hyde knew nothing about them.

The syndicate operations of J. H. Hyde and associates were gone into very thoroughly and it was shown that in twenty-three syndicates Mr. Hyde sustained personal losses of $28,615. Mr. Hyde ascribed the apportionment of the Equitable's allotment of bonds in syndicates to officers of the Equitable Life to the customs and usages in Wall street.

Union Pacific Pool.

Of the formation of the $50,000,000 Union Pacific pool, Mr. Hyde said, Mr. Harriman instigated it and explained that it was to be a holding syndicate for five years. It was understood this was for the purpose of controlling the Union Pacific. Mr. Hyde signed the syndicate agreement at Mr. Harriman's suggestion and talked only with Mr. Harriman on the subject. The executive committee was not informed of this operation as Mr. Hyde said that Mr. Alexander did not think it necessary and Mr. Harriman requested that the committee be not informed of it. He said that Mr. Harriman even refused to give a statement of the purposes of the pool to the superintendent of insurance when he was clamoring for it last spring.

Eclipsing all this sensational testimony, however, were the statements of Mr. Hyde concerning former Governor Odell and Mr. Harriman relative to the settlement of the Ship Building company suit against the Mercantile Trust company. Mr. Hyde said that Mr. Harriman came to him and advised the settlement of Odell's suit as he feared that powerful influence at Albany would be invoked in retaliatory measures. Mr. Harriman suggested as one of these measures the revocation of the charter of the Mercantile Trust company. Mr. Hyde knew of no actual steps that were taken nor of any bill that was introduced, but he was beset with rumors that such steps were about to be taken by legislation.

Charges Conspiracy.

Mr. Hyde was under the impression that the Mercantile in the settlement retained the bonds and paid Mr. Odell about $75,000. The original claim of Odell was about $180,000. The bonds subsequently netted about 50 cents on the dollar. Mr. Hyde said Mr. Harriman suggested the settlement of the suit and that the counsel and members of the executive committee of the Mercantile Trust advised it, and he recommended it. Charges of conspiracy to get him out of the country were made by Mr. Hyde against Henry C. Frick and E. H. Harriman in conection with the reported aspirations of Mr. Hyde to become ambassador to France. He said Mr. Frick inspired the idea and witness took it as a joke at first but when Mr. Frick brought it up later, Mr. Hyde was flattered and both Mr. Harriman and Mr. Frick promised to use their influence to secure the appointment. Again Mr. Hyde waxed

PRINCE LOUIS THE HOST AT GRAND BALL ABOARD DRAKE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg became the host tonight and in return for the hospitality which has been showered upon him during his stay in American waters gave a magnificent dance on board his flagship, the Drake. The thousand or more invited guests included officials and society people from Annapolis, Washington, Baltimore and West Point as well as in New York.

At the Cunard pier floated a tremendous British flag. Passing through the doorway, half down the pier, the guests saw a curtain of red, white and blue bunting inclosing the supper room which occupied the other half of the pier. Shut in with heavy canvas, the interior was all aglow with the light from the festoons of red, white and blue electric bulbs strung from the center of the roof which was formed by a canopy of bunting. Between the round tables aglow with red-shaded candelabra were banked evergreens and palms.

Scene of Beauty.

Just outside the supper room was the gangway by which the gu[illegible] aboard the Drake. The entire ship was inclosed in heavy canvas. Coming over the side the guests passed along the port side to the quarter-deck, where Prince Louis received. The tented walls of the after-deck were hung with flags of the nations, and the Stars and Stripes and the union jack were everywhere entwined. From the quarter-deck the guests passed up a stairway banked with flags to the ballroom. From the main deck rising high from the center of the boat shone the stars of the original 13 states, made of little electric lights on a field of blue bunting. From this central point were draped, tent fashion, the red and white stripes of a mammoth American flag. Beneath this firmament of the Stars and Stripes stretched the polished ballroom floor, built across the entire boat deck and extending aft to the last of the Drake's four funnels, affording room for more than 300 couples. Rising from the floor to meet the canopied roof were walls of bunting and ship's flags. At regular intervals around the walls were American and British flags, draped fan shape, and in between were round-framed mirrors. These mirrors were really the reflectors of the ship's powerful searchlights. A diver's uniform inflated stood at the end of the [illegible] holding a basket of dance cards extended on its right arm.

A Thousand Guests.

Through this wonderful garden of color strolled nearly a thousand guests. Prince Louis' h[illegible] the officers of the first squadron and the fourth division of the third squadron of the North Atlantic fleet and [illegible] included Admiral Evans of the North Atlantic fleet and Mrs. Evans and the M[illegible] Evans, Rear Admiral Davis commanding the second division of the first squadron and the officers of the staff; Rear Admiral Brownson, commanding the fourth division, Mrs. Brownson and Miss Caroline Brownson and the officers of the admiral's staff; Captain J. E. Pillsbury, chief of staff of the North Atlantic fleet, and the other officers of Admiral Evans' staff, the commanding and ward officers of the Maine, Missouri, Kentucky, Kearsarge, Alabama, Illinois, Iowa, Massachusetts, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Colorado, Maryland, Mayflower, Yankton, Brooklyn, Potomac and Hancock; Rear Admiral Sigsbee; Rear Admiral Coghlan. Others present were General Wade, Brigadier General Grant and the officers at Governors island; Brigadier General Mills; Governor Higgins of New York; Mayor and Mrs. McClellan; Mr. and Mrs. Choate, General Horace Porter, Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Astor; Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Fish; Miss Helen Gould, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jerome and several hundred other society people of New York whom the prince and his officers have met. The commanding and wardroom officers of the British squadron assisted the prince at the dance.

On the after-bridge overlooking the ballroom was the band of the Drake, which furnished music for the dance.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

FROM [illegible] COURT FOR PRODUCTION OF TALLY SHEETS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Counsel for the Municipal Ownership league today obtained from Justice Amend in the supreme court an order directing County Clerk Hamilton to produce before the board of county canvassers the original tally sheets in his custody at their meeting tomorrow or in default of so doing, to show cause tomorrow why he should not do so.

Justice Amend also restrained the board of county canvassers from taking any action with regard to the canvass of the votes until the question as to the production of the tally sheets has been decided. It was claimed by counsel that the tally sheets were necessary in order that the vote might be properly canvassed.

A similar order was obtained from Justice Dickey of Brooklyn against the canvassers in Queens county.

The Queens county canvassers found one envelope empty, although it had been properly sealed. In one district in Richmond the Republican and Municipal Ownership candidate for supreme court judge had been credited with [illegible] votes when he had 1[illegible]

TURKISH BRIGANDS LOSE A PRISONER

SALONICA, Nov. 14.—Mr. Willis, the Englishman recently employed by the Turkish tobacco revenue department who was captured by brigands nine months ago and held for ransom, escaped from his captors and reached Razlog, thirteen miles from Monastir.

Disturbances and encounters between Greek and Bulgarian bands continue. Five Bulgarians were killed by troops yesterday in the village of [illegible]. Greeks last night shot and killed six Bulgarians who were members of a wedding party near Florina. The Greeks then set fire to the building in which the wedding was being celebrated and fifteen persons, mostly women and children, were burned to death or fatally injured.

OFFICIALS DENY STORY

RUMORS OF PROJECTED AT-TEMPT UPON LIFE OF GENERAL ANDRADE

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—The officials ridicule the rumor that the government is in fear of an attack on the palace. The story appears to have arisen from the fact that the quarters of a score of rural guards on duty at the palace were moved from the stables at the side, to the front. General Andrade denies that the guard has been increased and that he has even the slightest knowledge of a plot against his own life. There is some evidence that the government, owing to the rumors, placed the palace guards in a more advantageous position, but no evidence of the reality of the alleged plot has been disclosed.

The Associated Press learns that some extra police have been stationed within the palace for the last three nights as the result of apprehension based on an official telegram from Santiago to the effect that some sort of revolutionary plot was being hatched there which it was suspected might result in simultaneous disorder in Havana and also that the sudden return of General Freire Andrade from his country place in this connection started the rumor of a plot against the general's [illegible]

RUMORS OF MUTINY FROM VLADIVOSTOK

Stories Leak Out Showing That Soldiers and Sailors Resort to Violence and Martial Law is Proclaimed—Details Are Wanting.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—In spite of the complete embargo placed on all telegraphs from Vladivostok the news of the outbreak there leaked out of the navy and war departments and became generally known throughout the city. Few details were available and the city was filled with the wildest rumors as to what was occurring in the eastern fortresses. One report circulated on the bourse today had the entire garrison and the sailors of all the ships in the harbor in mutiny. This, following on the heels of the mutiny at Cronstadt, contributed to the demoralization of the exchange.

Martial Law Proclaimed.

While the information received by the Associated Press goes to show that although order was today partly restored, a large part of the garrison stood firm and the crisis has not been passed. Fears are expressed in admiralty and general staff circles that mob violence has flared out again and that this will necessitate a further resort to armed force. Martial law has been proclaimed and the authorities are confident of their ability to stamp out any disorders.

SUKHUMALE, Government of Kutais, Caucasia, Nov. 14.—The noted monastery on Mount Athos, fifteen miles distant, was attacked today by a large predatory band. Troops were rushed to the scene and repulsed the attack, killing one of the band.

Disorders continue in this city this evening.

SAMARA, Russia, Nov. 14.—A mob of peasants today attacked and pillaged the village of Kostichi, a few miles distant. The better class of the population fled to Samara.

CHERNIGOFF, Russia, Nov. 14.—While peasants were engaged in burning the farm buildings of a Cossack land owner near the village of Ladozoff today they were surprised by mounted infantry, who fired on them killing or wounding many. There have been a number of minor combats attended by fatalities between marauders who came from a distance and the peasants in this neighborhood.

Witte Shows Strain.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sends an interesting picture of Count Witte attending a cabinet council for many hours on Monday until long after midnight with his physician meanwhile waiting in an adjoining room to see him. Then, being afflicted with a severe headache and unable to sleep, the premier devoted the whole night to arrears of official work.

"My private opinion," says the correspondent, "is that unless these conditions change Count Witte's marvelous staying powers will be subjected to a very dangerous strain."

ZEMSTVO COUNCIL ELECTS SHIPOFF

MOSCOW, Nov. 14.—M. Shipoff was re-elected president of the zemstvo council today. His election is interpreted as showing the growing strength of the moderate doctrines he advocates.

It is now ascertained that during the excitement at Moscow, the Ruskoye Slovo, which is the most radical opponent of the government and especially in its denunciation of the use of troops in suppressing disorders asked for and obtained a guard of Cossacks.

The reactionary Viedomosti in a leading article, advocates the Muravieff method of crushing the revolt in Poland saying:

"The Polish insurrection will demonstrate whether Count Witte is a statesman."

OUTRAGED PEASANTS LYNCHING THIEVES

WARSAW, Nov. 14.—At Pultusk, in this government, the peasants organized for the purpose of driving out or lynching the thieves who took advantage of the present disturbances to loot and plunder. The lynchers killed 11 and fearfully mutilated 20 of the thieves.

Several newspaper men were arrested in Warsaw by the police who searched their offices. Persons protesting against the declaration of martial law gathered at Lubin last night and were fired on by the infantry. Many persons were wounded.

ATTACK TARTAR VILLAGE.

TIFLIS, Nov. 14.—It is reported that in the government of Erivan 700 Armenians from a number of villages attacked the Tartar village of Cora, killed 400 of the villagers and burned all the property.

ODESSA STILL IN STATE OF UNREST

ODESSA, Nov. 14.—Considerable unrest continues to pervade this city. Looting and attacks on individuals are reported to have occurred in various quarters. The new prefect up to the present time has not taken any drastic measures and consequently the people fear to leave their homes after nightfall. The theaters are open but are deserted. The university opened today.

A number of policemen have resigned, and it is openly asserted that they secured sufficient plunder during the disturbances to make them independent.

NEW YORK ALDERMEN PETITION PRESIDENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A petition asking President Roosevelt to use his influence to stop the atrocities in Russia even though there is no diplomatic precedent for his interference, was adopted today by the New York board of aldermen.

VLADIVOSTOK UPRISING.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—A state of war has been declared in Vladivostok. Private advices say that the Chinese quarter has been entirely destroyed and that the uprising is now under control.

JEWS RESCUED.

CHITA, Siberia, Nov. 14.—An attempt to organize an attack on the Jews here yesterday was prevented by the authorities. The citizens have organized a defense committee.

RAILROAD EMPLOYES PROTEST AGAINST RATE LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—An earnest protest was made to the president today against proposed railroad freight rate legislation. The protest was filed by representatives of the five great labor organizations connected with railroading—the engineers, firemen, conductors, switchmen and trainmen. The members of the delegation which called on the president represented the several organizations. They pointed out to him that railroad legislation [illegible] meant the lowering of rates, which they contended would be followed by a lessening of the earning power of railroads and consequently by a reduction eventually in the wages of railroad employes.

The delegation which called on the president came from twelve different states, and represented all of the large systems of railroads.

Text of the Protest.

The statement was presented by Mr. Huntley and was as follows:

"The railroad employes and those dependent upon them represent upward of six millions of people in this country whose earnings approximately amount to one half a billion dollars annually and we believe that there is no other class of American workmen who present a higher general standard of citizenship than the railroad employes, and we also claim that we are entitled to fair and impartial consideration in the framing of any national legislation that threatens our general prosperity. We take keen and active interest in all matters that seem to conduce to a higher and broader standard of conditions for the workingmen of this country and therefore it is not strange that since the inception of this movement for [illegible] rates all railroad employes have, from time to time and in various ways expressed their convictions.

"For example, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, with a membership of 80,000 [illegible] at the last annual meeting in Buffalo last spring, adopted resolutions of the [illegible] emphatic nature against any change in railroad rates. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen have expressed similar views by official [illegible] and the same may be said of the [illegible] National [illegible]. The order of Railroad Conductors at their biennial convention in Portland, Ore., last May indorsed resolutions of the same nature.

Would [illegible]

"The membership of these organizations is now a little more than a quarter of a million and there are still behind us another full million of laborers in the railroad world who would be similarly affected by any reduction in earning capacity of the railroad lines of this country and what impresses us with more force than any side of the issue is this: Why have the railroad interests in particular been singled out for this attack? Why is the Interstate Commerce commission or some similar commission not to be clothed with the same absolute authority to fix the maximum prices on beef, pork, oil, clothing, butter and [illegible], etc.—in fact everything which one has to buy every day?

"It seems to us that such a step would be infinitely more reasonable than the proposed move because all of these and other commodities have advanced by bitter in his explanation of the extraordinary interest those gentlemen had in his absence from the country. He said he thought their idea was "that they would acquit themselves of their friendly stewardship to great profit to themselves" and added that the nature of the interest had since become very obvious. Mr. Hyde charged Mr. Frick with breach of faith in leading him to believe that the Frick committee was "friendly" to him and was doing all he could to dissuade witness from selling his stock, "at the same time," as Mr. Hyde said, "doing everything on that committee he could to knife me and destory the value of that stock."

FORMER VICE PRESIDENT OF EQUITABLE LIFE AS A WITNESS

Mr. Hyde explained that he used "friendly" in the just sense of the word and that if there was anything for which he could be criticised he was willing to take whatever criticism came. Mr. Hyde said he did not think the report was at all fair and that the committee posed as his friends while he was being attacked on the other side by Mr. Alexander and his friends under the sham of mutualization. Mr. Harriman, he said, asked him to move the adoption of the Frick report at the meeting of the board but Mr. Hyde said he absolutely declined, as it was condemnatory of everything that had ever transpired in the society, and he was advised by counsel that such a step would throw the Equitable Life into the hands of a receiver.

Mr. Hyde was excused until tomorrow, when his examination will be resumed.

BERNADOTTE FRIENDSHIP.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 14.—Crown Prince Gustavus of Sweden, arrived here today on a visit to the Danish court.

Among the first persons he called on was Prince Charles of Denmark which was accepted as a public intimation that the latter will have the friendship of the house of Bernadotte.

BITTERS EXPERIENCE.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—Gene Storrs drank washing fluid in mistake for bitters at an early hour this morning and as a result his throat and stomach were badly burned by caustic potash which was an element of the fluid. He reached out in the dark for the bitters, and did not discover his error until he had swallowed much of the fluid. Dr. Roberts believes he will recover.

WANT UNCLE SAM TO BUY AN IRRIGATION PROJECT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A non-partisan delegation from New Mexico called on the president today to discuss with him the proposed sale of an irrigation project in the Pecos valley, N. M., to the government. They are urging the secretary of the interior to buy the plant which has been built to irrigate the Pecos valley. The dam was constructed at a cost of $750,000. Last spring a flood carried a part of the dam away and the delegation proposes to sell the whole thing to the government for $150,000.

ENTERPRISE BANK BOOK DUPLICATED

EMPLOYES OF THE BANK HAVE BEEN COMPELLED BY RECEIVER TO SECURE THEIR LOANS.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 14.—If the latest report concerning the Enterprise bank is true, Receiver Cunningham is in possession of a duplicate set of books kept by persons in the bank between August 25 last, when federal examination was made, and the day the bank closed its doors. This information comes from one of the directors of the Enterprise Bank who appeared to be surprised that no mention had been previously made of this incident in the examination of the bank's accounts.

The finding of the books some days subsequent to the suicide of Cashier Clark and a perusal of them has been of invaluable assistance in tracing to their source many of the fraudulent transactions that wrought the wreck of the bank. It is said Examiner Moxey carried with him to Washington a complete copy of these accounts and upon them the federal government will base its criminal suits.

Just who will be hit by the contemplated action is a matter of conjecture. The presumption is that Clark had not sole knowledge of these books and was not the only person who made entries in them. It is known that certain employes of the Enterprise bank have been compelled to secure the receiver by giving judgment notes and making real estate transfers.

Inquiry into the reason for this elicits the information that these employes secured loans from the bank that have not yet been met. What the sums aggregate is not known, but Receiver Cunningham insisted that these loans be insured by notes and property transfers of equivalent value.

GOT A BLACK EYE IN THE "BAD LANDS"

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—The person who struck E. J. C. Reilley is as much a mystery as the one who "struck Billy Patterson." Reilley is a leasing operator. He made $40,000 in three months about a year ago, and gained popularity by spending it for champagne and other trimmings of a meteoric career. The blow of which he complains and which darkened his eye, was delivered in the "Bad Lands" into which he wandered last night. A woman named Lavely claims the honor, but Reilley, who towers over her like a house, haughtily avers that it was no woman who struck him, but two men, husky men at that. Every man of Myers avenue with reach enough to land on Reilley is being rounded up by the police in hope of finding his assailant. Irving Douglas, former postmaster at Anaconda, was found in the Lavely woman's saloon, this morning, in a comatose condition. He says he left the theater the night before, and dropped into a saloon for a drink. He was drugged and his pockets were turned inside out. Douglas made no complaint of robbery, however, seeking rather to avoid notoriety.

FEVER AT HAVANA.

HAVANA, Nov. 14.—While there have been no new cases of yellow fever and no deaths from the disease today, seven suspected cases are under observation. Three of these are Americans.

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES

Itching, Blind, Bleeding, Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

FUGITIVE SURRENDERED.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 14.—John Schweckler who, up to the day previous to the election, was employed as a clerk in the office of the city solicitor and had since been a fugitive from justice, today surrendered himself. He is charged, together with W. J. Wood and H. F. Starr, with perpetrating a fraud in the Twenty-sixth ward. The men who were election officers are accused of conspiracy to stuff and substitute a ballot box in the polling place.

UNDERWOOD STILL MISSING.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 4.—No tidings have been received of Tom Underwood, deputy sheriff, who left here last Thursday for Pueblo. He has not appeared there so far as the sheriff has been able to learn.

RUSSIAN EXILE DIES IN DENVER

VLADIMIR MOORATOFF, WHO ESCAPED FROM SIBERIA, SUCCUMBS ON EVE OF COUNTRY'S LIBERTY.

DENVER, Nov. 14.—Vladimir Mooratoff, a Russian exile credited with having founded "the People's Will" party of Russia which aimed at destroying the power of autocracy, died in the county hospital here today of cancer of the face.

Mooratoff was a zealous student agitator and patriot from boyhood. He graduated from the university of Kieff at the age of 21 and began publishing a paper. Mooratoff's liberal expressions caused him to be placed under arrest and later to be sent to Siberia. After several years' service there he escaped, coming to America and settling in Wyoming. While there he followed mining and only came to Denver two months ago to be treated for cancer.

Mooratoff became discouraged with the failure to check the ravages of the disease and attempted suicide by opening a vein in his arm on September 15. He was discovered dying unconscious in a barn and taken to the county hospital where he lingered until death came today.

Mooratoff was known in this country as Demitrius Konoplitzky. Yesterday he expressed his readiness to die now that his country was about to gain freedom "from the oppressor's hand."

LINDSTEDT TAKES AMATEUR HONORS

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Fred Gilmore, who won the featherweight amateur championship in Toronto last spring, was knocked out in the second round here tonight by Ben Lindstedt in the preliminary round of the tournament being held by the New Illinois Athletic club at the Coliseum.

This is the first time that Lindstedt has ever participated in a tournament and there was a general impression that Gilmore would have an easy time in qualifying for the finals. The fight was a whirlwind affair, however, both boys going at it hammer and tongs the moment they reached the center of the ring.

Before the first round was half over Gilmore was lying on the floor from a right swing received during an exchange of blows at close quarters. Gilmore got up at the count of nine.

ARREST OF SALOON KEEPERS AT VICTOR

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—An echo of the Sunday closing order was heard today in the arrest of Charles Nelson, keeper of the Scandia saloon, and Albert Knudson, owner of the Brunswick bar, both of Victor, for keeping their places open after 12 o'clock midnight, of last Saturday. The informations, issued by the district attorney, were signed by K. E. Linderfelt, of Victor. The defendants furnished $500 bail each. They will be tried at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow, the district attorney having no idea of losing any time in the prosecution of these cases.

INDORSE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY PROJECT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The convention of the Association of Presidents of State Universities adjourned today without taking action on football.

The convention indorsed the national university project, whose courses are designed for students and graduate students, and appointed a committee consisting of Presidents Baker, Buckham and Thompson to confer with members of the committee of 400 named by Mr. Hoyt, of Colorado, the originator of the project. The association discussed questions suggested by the experiences of American students who are taking the Rhodes scholarships at Oxford university in England. President Campbell, of the University of Oregon, opened the talk on the subject.

The opinion was expressed by some that the scholarships did not offer the best training for American students and that as the project was in the early stages of its history, judgment should not be finally passed upon it at this time. It was contended that American students generally are much further advanced in their studies than an admission to the university ordinarily requires, and that they suffered in consequences by being required to enter the freshman year.

BOY'S ILLNESS CAUSED BY WORRY

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Nov. 14. Herman Kints, aged 17 years, has been worried to sickness by the denial of his brother, John, of any relationship, and by the latter's refusal to feed him. Herman was born in Germany, and speaks no word of English. He came from Germany to a brother in Wisconsin three years ago. Three weeks ago the latter gave him a ticket to Victor, and told him to visit his brother, John.

Herman found John at the Gold Coin mine, where he is employed. John repudiated him, and his wife objected to his admission to their house. For three weeks the boy has subsisted on food given him by miners at the Gold Coin mine during lunch hours, and has slept on the floor in the engine room. Today a physician discovered that the lad's temperature was 102, and ordered his removal to the county hospital. Since learning of Kintz's attitude toward the boy, Gold Coin miners have been making existence uncomfortable for John.

Thousands of Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Almost every one, from personal experience, knows that the effects of any kind of severe physical strain are felt, first of all, in the small of the back—in other words, in those Vital Organs, the Kidneys. This is as true in the case of the very powerful as it is with one of less strength, and it is especially true whenever the kidneys are weak or out of order.

The Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root, strengthens the kidneys and through them helps all the other organs. WOMEN suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not always correctly understood; in many cases when doctoring, they are led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for their ills, when, in fact disordered kidneys are the chief cause of their distressing troubles.

DIDN'T KNOW I HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE

I had tried so many remedies without benefit that I was about discouraged but in a few days after taking your wonderful Swamp-Root I began to feel better.

I was out of health and run down generally; had no appetite, was dizzy and suffered with headache most of the time. I did not realize that my kidneys were the cause of my trouble, but somehow felt they might be, and I began taking Swamp-Root, as above stated. There is such a pleasant taste to Swamp-Root, and it goes right to the spot and drives disease out of the system. It has cured me, making me stronger and better in every way, and I cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers. Gratefully yours,

MRS. A. L. WALKER

331 East Linden St., Atlanta, Ga.

Perhaps you suffer almost continually with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and utter exhaustion.

Your poor health makes you nervous, irritable and at times despondent; but thousands of just such suffering or broken-down women are being restored to health and strength every day by the use of that wonderful discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

Not only does Swamp-Root bring new life and activity to the kidneys, the cause of the trouble, but by strengthening the kidneys it acts as a general tonic and food for the entire constitution.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. A trial will convince anyone—and you may have a sample bottle sent free by mail.

In taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root you afford natural help to nature, for Swamp-Root is the most perfect healer and gentle aid to the kidneys that has ever been discovered. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SWAMP-ROOT A BLESSING TO WOMEN.

DEAR SIRS: I want to write and thank you for what your Swamp-Root has done for me. Four years ago I was taken with something like colic, and it came on me once a month and oftener and it seemed as if I would die with the pain. I went to the doctor and he said I had gall-stone and treated me, but did me no good. I had the terrible pains very often. I saw in the paper where a woman was cured of gall stone by taking Swamp-Root, and my children wanted me to take it, so I began, taking in all several 50 cent bottles and am glad to say that I am entirely cured. I am certainly thankful for your medicine, and say to those who suffer as I did that Swamp Root will cure them. Yours very truly,

MRS. E. MCCULLEY

MRS. EMMA M'CULLEY,

Oviedo, Fla.

To Prove What SWAMP-ROOT, the Great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy Will Do For YOU, Ever Reader of the Gazette May Have a Sample Bottle Sent Free by Mail.

EDITORIAL NOTICE—No matter how many doctors you have tried—no matter how much money you may have spent on other medicines, you really owe it to yourself, and to your family, to at least give Swamp-Root a trial. Its strongest friends today are those who had almost given up hope of ever becoming well again. So successful is Swamp-Root in promptly curing even the most distressing cases, that to prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery, Swamp-Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp-Root and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women who owe their good health, in fact their very lives, to its wonderful curative properties. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say that you read this generous offer in the Colorado Springs Daily Gazette. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer. If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere.

RAILROAD EMPLOYES FEAR LEGISLATION

leaps and bounds, and by methods which we all agree would bear investigation while the general average of railroad freight rates has steadily decreased from two cents a ton per mile in 1870 down to three-fourths of one cent per ton per mile today and during the past 10 years the railroad companies have granted substantial wage concessions to their employes and also ameliorated labor conditions.

"That the railroads of the country have been enabled to reduce rates and at the same time advance wages and spend large sums in the physical improvement of their properties is due to the reduction or elimination of grades, curves, etc., double capacities of cars, immensely increased hauling power of locomotives and superior character of general service rendered, showing in instances an increase of 200 per cent in train tonnage. We believe that in this increase the limit has been reached. Therefore we believe we take a fair and just view of the situation when we claim that no national legislation should be adopted which shall tend to interfere or interrupt the present or future prosperity of the railroad employes in this country."

In presenting to the president the foregoing statement Mr. Huntley, who is a conductor on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, said:

"We are of the classes which have most to do in the practical operation of the most important branch of the railway service and that is the train department."

Sure of President's Sympathy.

He told the president it was not necessary to urge him to consider "the trials and responsibilities, the shadow of death that goes with us step by step in our daily battle for bread in our profession," because every laboring man in the land knew the president's keen interest and sympathy with the "honest worker."

Mr. Huntley assured the president that no taint of partisanship or political coloring existed in any degree among the members of the delegation, but they take a keen interest in all matters affecting the social economies of the country and the speaker declared with emphasis that railway employes were satisfied that any legislation tending to reduce the earning capacity of railroad lines will, in the same measure, interfere with the prosperity and generally satisfactory conditions of the railroad employes.

Mr. Huntley stated that it had come to be the attitude of the administration and of prominent Republicans generally that when a revision of the tariff is made the changes should be by its friends and not by its enemies.

"We suggest," said Mr. Huntley, "that a similar course be followed by railway rate legislation."

He wound up by expressing the hope that there would be no national legislation that would interfere with or interrupt the prosperous condition of the railroads or of their employes.

President Roosevelt assured the delegation that it was not his purpose or the purpose of those who favored railroad rate legislation to do anything that might injure the railroads of the country, or, incidentally the employes of the railroads. He said it was the purpose that all classes—railroads, shippers and employes should have perfectly fair treatment.

THE DIPLOMACY OF BUSINESS.

"Are you Mr. Packenham?" she asked.

"I am."

"I have come in answer to your advertisement for a stenographer."

"Oh, ah yes. I mentioned in the advertisement that the lady must be young and comely. Have you a sister or do you come in behalf of a friend?"

"Well," said the chief clerk as the door slammed, "that didn't take long, and it shut off the pathetic story about the invalid mother, too."—Chicago Record-Herald.

SOMETHING ABOUT SHIRTS.

The average man who buys cheap shirts wonders why the sleeves are always in wrong.

"That's the fault with cheapness," said a salesman. "In making up big lots of cheap shirts, the bodies, bands and sleeves are made in separate batches. One machine, for instance, will do nothing but turn out sleeves. They are cut and sewed independent of everything else, and afterward put on the shirt just as they happen to come out. And that's the reason your button always come round to the inside instead of where it ought to be. A man who buys such a shirt ought to take it right back to the seller as soon as he discovers the fact. I'll warrant you that nine out of ten shirts of that class have the sleeves on wrong.

"In shirts it doesn't pay to look for cheapness. You can't get quality for a song, and a few dollars more the dozen will be economy in the long run, for you've got the material and finish in the first place, and in the second place the goods will stand laundering better, and will always have a nice, fresh appearance. There is a great run this season on very flimsy goods—in this respect following the woman's shirtwaist, and in designs delicacy is the point aimed at by the makers of the best brands. A misfortune for the wearer is that the attached cuff is very much in vogue. I have to wear two shirts a day in my ordinary course of business, because with the utmost care the cuff will get soiled, and you cannot change the cuff without changing the whole shirt. In the course of a year the laundry bill is considerable—inconvenience of the thing aside.

"What is the most expensive shirt I have ever seen? Well, a couple of years ago I saw a fancy shirt made for a fellow in Wyoming that must have been worth several hundred dollars. It was of the finest leather, elaborately decorated, and the buttons were $5 gold pieces, while over the left pocket was a medalion made of a $20 gold piece, with a diamond set in the center. It was a fad of a wealthy cattle owner of that state, where showy trappings are as highly prized as monkey dinners at Newport. I don't think that he ever wore it, but if he did, all right. It was his shirt, not mine."—Baltimore News.

Mr. and Mrs. Curth will reside with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Perkins of Manitou, after a brief trip to Denver.

WOMAN IS BADLY HURT IN RUNAWAY

Mrs. W. F. Besley, wife of the forestry agent in charge of the government station at Clyde, was seriously injured in a runaway near that place yesterday. She was brought to Colorado Springs on the Short Line last night while yet unconscious and was taken to St. Francis hospital. At a late hour last night she recovered from the shock and was resting so well that her physicians entertained some hopes for her recovery.

Mrs. Besley was driving a team of spirited horses in the vicinity of Clyde when the accident occurred. The team became frightened and she was hurled from her seat. She suffered two depressions of the skull near the right temple. Workmen who witnessed the runaway carried the unconscious woman to Clyde. Her condition is critical although she is resting as comfortably as could be expected under the circumstances.

COLORED MEN HAVE FIGHT WITH KNIVES

A cutting affray was started between two negroes in the billiard hall on the third floor of Mert' laundry about 11 o'clock last night. Two men, believed to be "Frenchy" and Lewis, came together with knives. Frenchy receiving a cut in the right temple. They closed and rolled down the first flight of stairs when word reached them that the police had been called. This cooled them sufficiently to separate them and by the time the officers reached the building the negroes had gone. Detectives will investigate the matter today.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT EMPLOYES ON STRIKE

PARIS, Nov. 14.—The strike of government employes at the dock yards began today at Lorient. Two thousand workmen of the arsenal carrying red flags made a demonstration, and 2,000 workmen struck at Rochefort. At Brest the strikers comprise only a small percentage of the arsenal force, owing to a manifesto having been issued by the minister of marine assuring the workers that their just claims would receive attention.

The reports of the minister of marine show that about one third of the arsenal employes have struck. The most serious situation is at Toulon, where the strikers, who number 6,000, are suspending all naval construction. Patrols of marines are guarding the government property.

Premier Rouvier in the course of a debate in the chamber of deputies today declared the government was unanimous against the right of employes to strike against the government, particularly the branches charged with the national defense.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—A levy and writ of attachment was served on the Cripple Creek Homestake company here today to satisfy a judgment for $2,268 obtained by Charles Munson in the district court. The Ironclad, Pard, White Lead, Magna Charta, Quartzite and Annex claims were levied on.

DEEVER SUES STRATTON'S INDEPENDENCE FOR $20,000

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—Papers in a suit against Stratton's Independence, the Venture corporation, and W. H. Bryant were filed in the district court today in behalf of J. H. T. Deever, who would get $20,000. Deever states that in 1901, the defendants agreed to pay him the above sum for furnishing information concerning the salting of ore from Stratton's Independence mine, such information to have been used in the suit against the Stratton estate, to recover some of the millions paid for the mine.

[illegible] SCOTT'S ATTORNEYS MAY MOVE FOR NEW TRIAL

Special to The Gazette.

TRAINING OF GIANTS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—John J. McGraw has given up the idea of taking the Giants to California for training this coming spring and has determined to go to either Savannah or Memphis. The San Francisco management offered tempting inducements but the Giants have had such beneficial results from southern training that McGraw decided that it would be better to go south again. It has been decided to start south in the latter part of February, which is earlier than the usual time for reporting.

TAMMANY'S ELECTION FRAUDS.

IF we are to judge by the press dispatches, there is very little doubt that W. R. Hearst was beaten in the New York mayoralty election last week by fraud. McClellan's majority of a scant 3,000 out of a total vote of more than a half-million is startlingly small, but this fact in itself would not be cause for suspicion that Hearst is the rightfully elected candidate if it were not for the overwhelming evidence of intimidation at the polls and the allegations of actual theft of ballot boxes perpetrated by the Tammany workers.

The most striking thing about this whole post-election business in New York is the unanimity with which decent citizens are demanding that justice prevail. District Attorney Jerome and Mr. Ivins, the defeated Republican candidate for mayor, are doing everything in their power to aid Hearst to secure an honest count. Newspapers which bitterly opposed the Municipal Ownership candidate, and to whom the things he represents, both in politics, journalism and private life, are utterly odious, are rallying to his support simply because they want to see a square deal.

We firmly believe that it would be a calamity for Hearst to be mayor of New York, not merely because we are opposed to the political faddism for which he stands, but because of his odorous personality. But all this is past. Hearst himself is no longer an issue. The vital point is that crimes against the ballot were committed—that much is settled—and there is reason to believe that they were committed in sufficient degree to change the result of the election. If this last premise can be proved Hearst should be seated, no matter what the cost in money and effort may be. If a majority of the people by their votes decided that they wanted him for mayor, the office is his, and however calamitous may be the results of his accession, he ought to have it.

All other political questions pale into insignificance compared with the one of absolutely maintaining the purity of elections. Every citizen has the right to cast his ballot without intimidation, and to have it counted for the candidate for whom it was cast, and counted only once. The general demand by people of all parties that Hearst be given a chance to establish the validity of his claims, and if they be valid to assume the office to which he was elected, is a most gratifying sign, for it shows that even in New York where the public is used to corrupt politics, it will not tolerate election stealing. If the time ever comes when popular sentiment is so complaisant as to permit ballot box stuffers to work undisturbed, this country will go to pot so quickly that the next generation will wonder if it was ever really a republic.

THE MINING CONGRESS.

THE sessions of the American Mining Congress, which were begun in El Paso, Texas, yesterday, will be of particular interest to Colorado people, because this is the greatest mining state in the Union. Colorado's first fame was won through her production of precious metals, and early in the development of the West she gained, and has ever since held, the distinction of producing more gold and silver than any other state. In the last three or four years the agricultural products have surpassed the mineral wealth in value, but this implies no falling off in mineral production, merely a remarkable growth of agricultural pursuits. No matter what the live stock, beet sugar, grain and other industries may amount to in future years, there probably never will be a time when the word Colorado is not synonymous with gold.

For this reason all Colorado is vitally concerned in any movement which makes for the advancement of the mining industry. The American Mining Congress very appropriately has its headquarters in Denver, and from that vantage point it exercises a beneficial influence over the mining business throughout the West. It has several definite objects in view, the principal of which is to secure the enactment by Congress of a law creating a Department of Mining, similar to the other Government departments, with a head who shall be a member of the President's Cabinet.

It is argued that agriculture and commerce, the other two great agencies of production, are each represented in the Government by a department, and that the mining industry is of such magnitude as to require similar provisions in its behalf. This matter has been persistently agitated by the Mining Congress for several years, but a widespread interest in it does not seem to have been aroused. Such a department would include not only metalliferous mining, which is carried on mostly in the West, but coal mining, which, as we know, is one of the most important industries of the East. The interests involved are enormous, and it is not improbable that before many years Congress will be made to realize the necessity of some such legislation as is proposed.

The Mining Congress is also working to secure the unification of the mining laws of the several states, which are now almost as diverse as the divorce laws. If this object is attained it will without doubt be of great advantage to every one interested in mining.

SHONTS' CANAL VIEWS.

THERE is something to thrill the blood of the patriotic American in the description given by Theodore P. Shonts of the difficulties, dangers, methods and advantages of Panama Canal construction. Mr. Shonts' address, delivered before the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association in Washington, a few evenings ago, is the clearest and most concise exposition of what has actually been done and what is yet to be done at the Isthmus that has yet been published, and if it accomplishes no other good it certainly will do much to dispel the doubts of the pessimists.

Mr. Shonts scores a point when he says that "if we have not, as our critics complain, 'made the dirt fly,' we have made the filth fly, and we have made the yellow fever, that supreme terror of the tropics, fly so far from the Isthmus that it will never, let us hope, find its way back again." To appreciate the magnitude of this achievement the public must bear in mind the unsanitary conditions which prevailed when the Americans took possession. In the city of Panama there was neither pure water supply nor sewerage system. "The filth of ages had accumulated around the dwellings and in the streets undisturbed except when washed away by torrential rains." Now, thanks to American energy, a modern sewerage system is half finished, and 70 per cent. of the city is supplied with pure mountain water, fed from a storage large enough to furnish sixty gallons a day to each inhabitant after the present population shall have increased one half. No fewer than 4,100 men are now employed in sanitary work and the effectiveness of their labors is shown by a comparison of death rates. "In August, 1882, the second year of the French occupancy, with a force of 1,800 men, the death rate was 112 per 1,000. In August, 1905, with a force of 12,000 men, there were only eight deaths, or two-thirds of a man per 1,000."

The question of labor is one of the gravest problems with which the Canal Commission has to deal, and Congress would do well to consider carefully what Mr. Shonts has to say on this subject. He declares that plenty of labor can be secured from the tropics, so far as numbers are concerned, but that unless greater efficiency can be developed than is had at present the Commission will have to look elsewhere. Illustrating this point, he tells an incident which came under the observation of Senator Millard during his recent visit to the Isthmus:

"Sitting on the deck of the steamer Havana he was watching the unloading of a heavy piece of machinery from the hold of the vessel. The tackle got caught in the rigging on the deck above, and the foreman in charge of the gang of laborers sent one of them above to free the tackle. The laborer went to the place to which he was sent, and did what he was told to do. The foreman, paying no attention to him after he started on his errand, missed him a few minutes later, and, looking around for him, discovered him peacefully sitting at the spot where he had been sent. 'What are you doing there?' yelled the foreman. 'You told me to come here, sah.' 'Well, why didn't you come back?' 'You didn't tell me to, sah.'"

Continuing, Mr. Shonts said:

"It is to this class of labor that we are paying from 80 to 90 cents a day in gold, and out of which it is estimated we do not get more than 25 per cent of the efficiency of labor in the United States. This is the kind of labor to which we are compelled to apply the eight-hour law—that is, to aliens who do not know of the law's existence until they arrive on the Isthmus. Such application will increase the labor cost of Canal construction at least 25 per cent, and will add many millions unnecessarily to the total expenditure."

The enactment of an eight-hour law to apply to the construction of the Canal was one of those pieces of superlative unwisdom which Congress not infrequently commits. It would seem to be the part of common sense for the members of the law-making body to accept the advice and counsel of men who, from actual experience, know more about certain questions than the average Congressman could ever be expected to learn either in Washington or at home. But no, the Congressman is omniscient—otherwise he wouldn't be in Congress—so he, collectively, enacts laws which defeat the very purpose they seek to attain. The eight-hour law can accomplish no possible good on the Isthmus, but, as Mr. Shonts states, "it will add many millions unnecessarily to the total expenditure." Meanwhile, a good many of the very Congressmen who voted for the eight-hour law will continue to howl about the awful cost of the Canal.

The state of New Jersey is out of debt and has nearly $3,000,000 to the good. When this becomes generally known it will require all of the summer hotels in the state to accommodate the grafters who will flock there from other parts of the country.

Thirteen new directors of the Equitable will be chosen on December 13. Unless everybody goes armed with the left hind foot of a rabbit something awful is liable to result from that combination.

When Shakespeare wrote, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," he was looking three hundred years into the future and thinking of Nicholas Romanoff, the second of the name.

A year ago Witte was in disgrace and Kuropatkin was the popular idol. Now things are somewhat changed. Where, oh where, are the heroes of yesterday?

An astronomer declares there are no canals on Mars. If Roosevelt and Taft were there it wouldn't take them long to start something.

Russia may be thankful that in addition to its other troubles it hasn't a municipal ownership agitation to contend with.

BY WAY OF ILLUSTRATION.

Admirable beyond description is the ability of many good people to always look on the bright side of things. During his brief stay in Warren yesterday the Rev. Stire related an anecdote of personal experience which aptly illustrates the point. One day during his pastorate of the Baptist church he and Mrs. Fidelia Farnham were out driving with a single rig when the horse, becoming frightened, began to kick furiously. Mrs. Farnham heroically jumped to the ground, receiving injuries which laid her up several weeks. Overlooking her pain she exclaimed: "My, Brother Stire, that's the easiest buggy to jump out of I ever saw."—Warren (Ill.) Sentinel.

A Story of Love, War and Witchcraft in Old Geneva

By STANLEY J. WEYMAN

Author of "A Gentleman of France," "Under the Red Robe," "The House of the Wolf," etc.

Copyright, 1903, by Stanley J. Weyman. Published by special arrangement with McClure, Phillips & Co., New York.

IT CAME from a trap door that led to the tiles, a trap that even as her eyes reached it, lifted itself with a rending sound. Save for the bedridden woman, Anne was alone in the house; and for one instant it was a question whether she held her ground or fled shrieking into the room she had left. For an instant only; then the instinct to shield her mother won the day; and with fascinated eyes she watched the head, a man's, rise through the aperture, watched a body follow, and—and at last a face—

Claude's face! But changed! Even while she sank gasping against the wall—for the relief was too much for her—even while he took the lamp from her shaking hand and supported her, and comfort and joy began to run like wine through her veins, she knew it. The forceful look, the tightened lips, the eyes gleaming with determination—all were new to her. They gave him an aspect so old, so strange, that when he kissed her, once she put him from her.

"What is it?" she said. "Oh Claude! What is it? What has happened?"

Letting a smile appear—but such a smile as did not reassure her—he signed to her to go before him downstairs. She complied; but at the foot of the first flight she stopped; she could bear the suspense no longer. She turned to him again. "What is it?" she cried. "Something has happened."

"Something is happening," he answered. His eyes shone, exultant. "But it is a matter for others! We may be easy!"

"What is it?"

"The Savoyards are in Geneva."

She stared incredulously. "In Geneva? Here?" she exclaimed. "The enemy?"

He nodded.

"Here? In Geneva?" she repeated. She could not have heard aright.

"Yes."

But she still looked at him; she could not reconcile his words with his manner. This, the greatest calamity that could happen, this which she had been brought up to fear as the worst and most awful of catastrophes—could he tell of it, could he announce it after this fashion, with a smile, in a tone of pleasantry? He must be playing with her. She passed her hand over her eyes, and tried to be calm. "But all is quiet?" she said.

"All is quiet now," he answered. "At twelve the trouble will begin."

Still she could not understand him. His face said one thing, his voice another. Besides, the town was quiet; no sound of riot or disturbance, no clash of steel, no tramp of feet penetrated the walls. And their house stood on the ramparts where the first alarm would be given. "Do you mean," she asked at last, her eyes fixed steadfastly on him, "that they are going to attack the town at twelve?"

"They are here now," he replied, shrugging his shoulders. "They scaled the walls after the guard had gone round at eleven, and they are now lying by tens and twenties along the outside of the Corraterie, waiting for the hour and the signal."

She passed her hand across her closed eyes, and looked again, perplexedly. "And you," she said, "you? I do not understand. If this be so, what are you doing here?"

"Here?"

"Ay, here! Why have you not given the alarm in the town?"

"Why should I give the alarm?" he retorted coolly. "To save those who hounded you through the streets two days ago? To save those who tomorrow may put you to the torture and burn you like the vilest of creatures? Save them?" with a grim smile. "No, let them save themselves!"

"But——"

"I would save you! not them! I would save your mother! not them! And it is done. Let the Grand Duke triumph tonight, let Savoy take Geneva, and our good townsfolk will have other matters to occupy their thoughts tomorrow! Ay, and through many and many a morrow to come! Save them?" with a grim cynical note in his voice. "No, I save you. Let them save themselves! It is God's mercy on us, and His judgment on them! Or why happens it tonight? Tonight of all nights in the year?"

She was very pale, and for a moment remained silent; whether she felt the temptation to which he had succumbed, or was seeking what she should say to move him, is uncertain. At last, "It is impossible," she murmured, in a low voice. And she shivered. "You have not thought of the women and children, of the fathers and mothers who will suffer."

"And your mother!"

"Is one. God forbid that I should save her at the expense of all! God forbid! God forbid!" she wailed, as if she feared her own weakness, as if the temptation almost overcame her. And then laying her hand on his arm and looking up to him—his face was set so hard. "You will not do this!" she said. "You will not do this! Could we be happy after? Could we be happy with blood on our heads, and on our hands, and on our hearts! Happy, oh no! Claude, dear heart, dear husband, we cannot buy happiness so, or life so, or love so! We cannot save ourselves—so! We cannot play God's part—so!"

"It is not we who do it," he answered stubbornly.

"It is we who may prevent it!" she answered, leaning more heavily on his arm, looking up to him more earnestly; with pleading eyes which it was hard to refuse. "Would you, to save us, have betrayed Geneva?"

He groaned—she had moved him. "God knows!" he answered. "To save you—I think I would!"

"You would not! You would not!" she repeated. "Neither must you do this. Honor, faith, duty, all forbid it!"

"And love!" he cried.

"And love!" she answered bravely. "For who would love dishonored? Who would love in shame? No; go as you have come, and give the alarm! And do and help! Go, as you have come! But how"—with a startled look as she thought of the trap door—"did you come?"

"By the Tertasse Gate," he explained. "There were but two men on guard, and they were asleep. I passed them unseen, climbed the stairs to the leads—I have been up twice before—and crossed the roofs. I knew I could come this way unseen, and if I had come by the door——"

She understood and she cut him short. "Then go as you came and rouse the watch in the gate!" she cried feverishly. "Rouse them all, and Heaven grant you be not too late! Go, Claude, for the love of me, for the love of God, go quickly!" Her hands on his arm shook with eagerness. "So that, if there be treachery here——"

"There is treachery!" he said darkly. "Grio——"

"We at least shall have no part in it! You will go? You will go?" she repeated, clinging to his arm, trembling against him, looking up to him with eyes which he could not resist. Love wrestled here, on the higher, the nobler, the unselfish side, and came the stronger out of the contest. There were tears in his eyes as he answered.

"I will go. You are right, Anne. But you will be alone."

"I run no greater risk than others," she answered.

He held her to him, and their lips met once. And in that instant, her heart beating against his, she comprehended to what she was sending him, into what peril of life, into what a hell of force and darkness and fire and blood; and her arms clung to him as if she could not let him go. Then, "Go, and God keep you!" she murmured in a choked voice. And she thrust him from her.

A moment later he was on the roof, and she was kneeling where he had left her, with her face on the bare stairs in an agony of prayer for him. But not for long; she had her part to do. She hurried down to the living-room and made sure that the strong shutters were secured; then up to Basterga's room and to Grio's, and as far as her strength went she piled the furniture against the iron-barred casements that looked on to the ramparts. While she worked her ears listened for the alarm, but, until she had finished and was ascending with the light to her mother's room she heard nothing. Then a distant cry, a faint challenge, the drum-beat of running feet, a second cry—and silence. It might be his death-cry she had heard; she stood with a white face, shivering, waiting, bearing the woman's burden of suspense. To lie down by her mother was impossible; rapine, murder, fire, all the horrors, all the perils of a city taken by surprise, crowded into her mind. Yet they moved her not so much as the dangers he ran, whom she had sent forth to confront them, whom she had plucked from her own breast that he might face them!

Meanwhile Claude, after gaining the tiles, paused a moment to consider his next step. Far below him, on the narrow, black triangle of the Corraterie, lay the Savoyards, some three hundred in number, who had scaled the wall. Out of the darkness of the plain, beyond and below them, rose the faint, distant quacking of alarmed ducks, proving that others of the enemy moved there. Even as he listened, the whirr of a wild goose, winging its flight over the city came to his ear. On his left, where a dim oil lamp or two marked the meeting of four ways, the town slept unsuspicious, recking nothing of the fate prepared for it.

It was a solemn moment, and Claude, on the roof under the night sky, felt it to be so. Restored to his higher self, he breathed a prayer for guidance and for her, and was as eager now as he had before been cold. But not the less for that did he ply the wits that, working freely in this hour of peril, proved him one of those whom battle owns for master. He had gathered enough, lying on his face in the bastion, to feel sure that the forlorn hope which had gained a footing on the wall would not move until the arrival of the main body whom it was its plan to admit by the Porte Neuve. To carry the alarm to the Porte Neuve, therefore, and secure that gate, seemed to be the first and most important step; since to secure the Tertasse and the other inner gates would be of little avail, if the main body of the enemy were once in possession of the ramparts. The course that at first sight seemed the most obvious—to enter the town, give the alarm at the town hall, and set the tocsin ringing—he rejected; for while the town was arming, the three hundred who had entered might seize the Porte Neuve and so secure an entrance for the main body.

These calculations occupied no more than a few seconds; then, his mind made up to the course he must pursue, he crawled as quickly, but also as quietly, as he could along the dark parapets until he gained the leads of the Tertasse. Thence he proceeded with equal or greater caution to descend the narrow corkscrew staircase that led to the guard-room on the ground floor.

He forgot that it is more easy to ascend without noise than to descend. With all his care he stumbled when he was within three steps of the bottom. He tried to save himself, but fell against the half-open door, flung it open, and, barely keeping his feet, found himself confronted by the two watchmen, who, startled by the noise, had sprung to their feet, thinking the devil was upon them. One, with an oath upon his lips, reached for his half-pike; his fellow, less sober, steadied himself by resting one hand on the table.

If they gave the alarm, his plan was gone. The enemy, finding themselves discovered, would seize the Porte Neuve. "One minute!" he cried breathlessly. "Let me explain——"

"You!" the more sober retorted, glaring fiercely at him. "Who the devil are you? And where have you been?"

"Quiet, man, quiet!"

"What is it?"

"Treason!" Claude answered, imploring silence by a gesture. "Treason! That is what it is! But for God's sake no noise! No noise, man, or our throats are as good as cut! Savoy has the wall!"

The man stared, and no wonder. "You are mad," he said, "or drunk! Savoy——"

"Fool, it is so!" Claude cried, beside himself with impatience.

"Savoy?"

"They are under the trees on the ramparts within a few yards of us now! Three hundred of them! A word and you will feel their pikes in your breast! Listen to me!"

But with a laugh of derision the drunken man cut him short.

"Savoy here—on the wall!" he hiccoughed. "And we on guard!"

"If it is so!" Claude urged. "Believe me, it is so! And we must be wary!"

"You lie, young man! And I'll—I'll prove it! See here! Savoy on the wall indeed! Savoy! And we on guard!"

He lurched in two steps to the outer door, seized it and supported himself by it. Claude leapt forward to stop him; but could not reach, being on the other side of the table. He called to the other to do so. "Stop him!" he said. "Stop him!"

The man might have done so, but he [illegible] "Stop him?" the sot answered, his hand on the door. "Not—two of you—will stop him! Now, then! Savoy, indeed! On the wall? I'll show you!"

He let the door go, and reeled three paces into the darkness outside, waving his hands as if he drove chickens. "Savoy! Savoy!" he cried; but whether in drunken bravado, in derision, or in pure disbelief, Heaven only knows. For the word had barely passed his lips the second time before a gurgling scream followed, freezing the hearts of the two listeners. And before the second guard could close the door or move from his place on the hearth, four men sprang in out of the darkness, and bore him back. Before he had struck a blow they had pinned him against the wall.

Claude owed his escape to his position behind the door. They did not see him as they sprang in, intent on the one they did see. He knew resistance to be futile, and a bound carried him into the darkness of the corkscrew staircase. Once there, he dared not move. He saw or heard what followed.

The man pinned against the wall, with the point of a knife flickering before his eyes, begged piteously for his life.

"Then silence!" Basterga answered—for the foremost who had entered was he. "A word and you die!"

"Better let me finish him at once!" Grio growled. The prisoner's face was ashen, his eyes were starting from his head. "Dead men give no alarms!"

"Mercy! Mercy!" the man gasped.

"Ay, ay, let him live," Basterga said goodnaturedly. "But he must be gagged. Turn your face to the wall, my [illegible]"

The poor wretch complied with gratitude. In a twinkling the Paduan's huge fingers closed around his neck, and over his windpipe. "Now strike," the big man hissed. "He will make no noise!"

With a sickening thud Grio's knife sank between the shoulders, a moment the body writhed in Basterga's herculean grip, then sank lifeless to the floor. "Had you struck him, fool," Basterga muttered wrathfully, wiping a little blood from his sleeve, "as you wanted to strike him—he had squealed like a pig! Now 'tis the same, and no noise. Ha! Seize him!"

He spoke too late. Claude had seen his opportunity, and as the treacherous blow was struck had crept forth. At the moment the other saw him and cried the alarm, he was in the act of bounding over the threshold. As his feet touched the ground outside, a man who stood there lunged at him with [illegible] missed him—a chance [illegible] the striker [illegible] the young man had [illegible] into the darkness and [illegible] his life across the Corr[illegible] portion of the Porte Ne[illegible] He knew that his [illegible] every side of him; and [illegible] "Seize him!" [illegible] ing every step [illegible] would not see a yard [illegible] and fleet, and active [illegible] covered him, the men [illegible] Over more than one [illegible] bounded like a deer [illegible] ing in front of him br[illegible] ly to the ground, but [illegible] It was his foot struck [illegible] the head, and the [illegible] let him rise. A mom[illegible] gripped him, but Claude [illegible] ther, and the young [illegible] sideways, [illegible] feet again, and already [illegible] over the threshold of the [illegible] The cry of "Aux Armes!" [illegible] was already on his lips [illegible] had succeeded; when [illegible] and the faintly lighted [illegible] forms rose as by [illegible] is before him—so [illegible] able to check himself [illegible] foremost.

He might have entered with them—so near was he. But he saw that he was too late; he guessed that the [illegible] behind him had [illegible] attack, and arresting himself [illegible] ring of light, but within a few [illegible] of the gateway, he threw himself on the ground and awaited the event. It was not long in declaring itself. For a few seconds a dull roar of shots and shouts and curses filled the [illegible] Then out, again, helter-skelter, [illegible] flash of exploding powder and [illegible] and blows, came defenders and assailants in a crowd, the former [illegible] escaping, the latter [illegible] off from the Porte Tertasse and the town. For an instant after they had poured out the gate [illegible] Claude rose first to his knees and then [illegible] paused a moment in doubt, then darted in and entered the guardroom.

The firelight—the other lights in the small, dingy chamber had been trampled under foot—showed him two wounded men groaning on the floor and the body of a third who lay apparently dead. Claude [illegible] found what he wanted, a half-pike, and made for the door of the stairs that led to the roof. It was in the same position as at the Tertasse. He opened it, passed through it, mounted two steps—and in the darkness came against someone who seized him by the throat.

The man had no weapon—at any rate he did not strike; and Claude, taken by surprise, could not level his pike in the narrow stairway. For a moment they wrestled; Claude striving to bring his weapon to bear on his foe, the latter trying to strangle him. But the advantage of the stairs lay with the first comer, who was uppermost, and gradually he bore Claude back. The young man, however, would not [illegible] such hold as he had, and they were on the point of falling out together on the floor of the guard-room when the light disclosed Claude's face.

"You are of us!" his opponent panted. And abruptly released his grip. "Geneva!"

"I know you!" The man was one of the guard, who, in the alarm, had escaped into the stairway. "I know you! You live in the Corraterie!"

Claude wasted not a second. "Up!" he cried. "We can hold the roof! Up, man, for your life! For your life! It is our only chance!"

FOURTEEN BIDS SUBMITTED FOR THE FEDERAL BUILDING

Lowest Bidder Is W. H. Maxwell of Laramie, Wyo.—Figures of Colorado Springs Contractors—Bids so Low That Size of Building May Be Increased

So low were the bids for constructing the new federal building in Colorado Springs, opened in Washington yesterday afternoon, that the hope of increasing the size of the building now becomes a certainty.

Fourteen bids were received, the lowest being that of William H. Maxwell of Laramie, Wyo., who offered to do the work for $105,972. J. H. Weise of South Omaha made a bid of $106,470 and William Weber of Beaumont, Texas, [illegible]. G. F. Atkinson of Colorado Springs bid $119,950 and Gillis Brothers of this city bid $118,889.

Bids on the work, according to the [illegible] plans, ranged from $85,000 to [illegible] changes in the plans, removing the paneling of brick and substituting stone, increased the cost. The low bidding, even with the improvement of the building material, insures the enlargement of the building whether or not the appropriation of $135,000 available for this purpose is increased.

Congressman Franklin E. Brooks already has taken up the matter of using the unexpended balance of the appropriation for the purpose of making enlargements. He expresses the opinion that there doubtless will be even more money available before the building is completed, as he has had assurances that if the Fifty-ninth congress passes a public building appropriation bill, the Colorado Springs project will receive an additional appropriation.

The ground dimensions of the proposed building under the present plans are 78x108 feet. It is to be two stories in height with an elevation of 40 feet. The contract will not be let for building under the present bids, unless there is a provision that the contract work and price may be increased by the addition of extras. The building under the plans now submitted would cover only about half of the lot at the corner of East Pike's Peak and Nevada avenues, so there is plenty of room for expansion. It is also probable that some changes will be made in the interior arrangement of the building.

WEDDING PLANS MADE BY MAIL

A GROOM FROM VICTOR AND BRIDE FROM KANSAS MARRIED BY JUSTICE DUNNINGTON.

It was a happy young man and a pretty but bashful young woman that asked the way to the office of the county clerk yesterday, and after a court official pointed out the way he turned to a friend and remarked: "They want a marriage license, and I'll [illegible] that on it. Don't they look happy?" The couple proved to be Charles Coffman, a mill man of Victor, and Miss [illegible] Sehrist, a pretty girl who had come to this city from Lawrence, Kan. [illegible] arrangements made by mail. There being no obstacles in the way a license was granted by the county clerk. Before leaving the office the happy couple held a brief consultation and then inquired of the clerk where they would find a justice of the peace. Justice O. R. Dunnington was found disengaged and at once performed the ceremony that united the couple as man and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Coffman will make their home in Victor, Colo.

Deputy Clerk W. H. Reed also issued a marriage license to Conrad C. [illegible]terson, of Elbert, Colo., and Miss Wilhelmina Hanson, of Eastonville, Colo.

SHOT TWICE AT HUMAN TARGET

PETER LYNCH, D. & R. G. SECTION BOSS, IN JAIL CHARGED WITH ASSAULT TO KILL WILLIAM FOLEY.

Peter Lynch is in the county jail awaiting trial before Justice O. R. Dunnington upon a charge of shooting at William Foley at Edgerton 10 miles north of this city, Monday night. Lynch is the foreman of an extra D. & R. G. section gang, while Foley is the foreman of the regular gang with headquarters at Edgerton.

It is alleged that on Monday evening Lynch and some of his men had been drinking and after supper had a quarrel with some of Foley's men. When Foley attempted to quiet the trouble it is alleged that Lynch drew a big revolver and fired a couple of shots at the other foreman, both bullets missing the human target.

Foley reported the affair at the court house yesterday morning and was directed to Justice Dunnington's court where a complaint was made out and sworn to. Constable Harvey Gillingham served the warrant upon Lynch, whom he found working at Pike View, and upon searching the prisoner removed from his pocket a 38-calibre revolver on a 45 frame. Two shots had been fired from the gun and the remaining chambers were fully loaded. In default of $300 bond, Lynch was remanded to the custody of the sheriff to await a hearing Thursday upon a charge of assault to kill.

GIVES TWO-STORY BUSINESS BLOCK TO ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Health Restored by Divine Healing, J. S. Wilson Says He Was Told to Dispose of Worldly Wealth—To Build Divine Healing Home Here.

Believing that he was divinely healed when at the point of death from a complication of asthma, pneumonia and consumption, J. S. Wilson, Eighth and Jefferson, Colorado City, yesterday deeded a two-story brick business block at 628 Colorado avenue, Colorado City, to the directors of the Assembly of God of Colorado Springs.

The Assembly of God will sell the property, which is worth from $10,000 to $12,000 and use the money to build a divine healing home in Colorado Springs for the poor who are sick and especially for consumptives who come to this city unable to work and without means of support.

J. S. Wilson, who made the rich gift, told the Rev. G. F. Fink, pastor of the Assembly of God in this city, and of the charge at Denver, that God had led him to make this disposal of his worldly wealth. Mr. Fink advised him to keep the property, but yesterday he received a deed to the building which is free of all incumbrance.

Wilson is a farmer. He traded a $12,000 ranch at Rocky Ford for the property he has given away. He has no other property except a house and lot at Rocky Ford. For two years he has lived at Colorado City and has been unable to do any work on account of ill health.

The Rev. Mr. Fink says that two weeks ago Mr. Wilson, who is a member of the Assembly of God, was brought to the assembly home, [illegible] East Pike's Peak avenue, at the point of death and that he was cured by the prayers of the assembly and by his faith.

In order that he and his family may attend the assembly lectures and take the full course, Mr. Wilson has rented a residence within a door or two of the home. He has a wife and two children.

NICHOLS ESTATE IS WORTH $40,000

WILL OF E. E. NICHOLS, SR., FILED FOR PROBATE IN COUNTY COURT YESTERDAY—THE BEQUESTS.

The will of E. E. Nichols, Sr., of Manitou, was filed with the probate court yesterday and shows property valued at about $40,000, consisting principally of stock in the E. E. Nichols Hotel and Realty company, mining stock of doubtful value and a few hundred dollars in cash. The will names as executors of the estate the son, Edward E. Nichols, Jr., and a daughter, Ida C. Nichols.

Special bequests were made as follows: To Ida C. Nichols, 50 shares of the capital stock of the Nichols Hotel and Realty company; to each of the grandchildren, $100; To Dr. H. M. Ogilbee, $200; the personal effects, souvenirs, jewelry, etc., are to be equally divided between the four children of the testator, and all of the remainder of the estate is to be equally divided, share and share alike, between the four children of the testator: E. E. Nichols, Jr., Ida C. Nichols, both of Manitou; William W. Nichols of New York, and Ann M. Caldwell of Nashville, Tenn.

The will was signed in the presence of E. W. Giddings and W. S. Morris on August 21, 1905.

DREW STRAWS FOR Y. M. C. A. PRIZE

FOUR CONTESTANTS FOR MEMBERSHIP HONORS IN BALLOON CONTEST—HUGH ROCKWELL WON.

Hugh Rockwell of 431 South Weber street, "the man with the wire," won a two months' membership in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon after an exciting race for a balloon, in which four boys tied and the contest had to be decided by the time-honored method of drawing straws.

The balloon, which was the second to be sent up in the Y. M. C. A. membership contest, was inflated in front of the association building at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A small army of boys on bicycles started to follow the air-bag's course, which was due east. The balloon caught fire and fell a mile east of the St. Francis hospital. The boys discarded their wheels and raced after the membership tag which was attached to it. Four boys reached it at the same time. They returned to the Y. M. C. A., three with pieces of the tag and one with the wire which held the ticket to the balloon. Jesse Arnold, boys' secretary, decided to let them draw straws for it. Young Rockwell, "the man with the wire," drew the long straw and is now a member of the association.

AWAKEN INTEREST IN HORTICULTURE

EL PASO HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY PLANS TO HOLD A SERIES OF [illegible] MEETINGS.

In order to awaken a general interest in horticulture in Colorado Springs the El Paso County Horticultural society will hold three or four big public meetings.

At a meeting of the society last night it was agreed that the first of these meetings should be held early in December and that the time and place should be decided and announced by Fred F. Horn, J. F. Lilly and F. Walter Varlow, president, secretary and treasurer, respectively.

An interesting paper was read by John Berry, who has charge of the work in Monument Valley park, on "Horticulture in the Old and New World."

This is the last day for school children to submit designs for the schedule cover for the coming year. Several clever designs have been submitted, showing a marked interest in the competition.

JOCKEY IS INJURED.

BALTIMORE, Nov 14—The cross-country runner Gansevoort was killed at the seventh jump in the steeplechase yesterday and Jockey Walcott was badly injured. The horse stumbled just before the jump and not being able to recover its hind legs caught the fence and it fell on its head, breaking its neck.

COLORADO CITY

PIONEERS WILL ATTEND FUNERAL

THE DEATH OF JACOB BECKER CAUSES GREAT SORROW TO MANY FRIENDS BURIAL TOMORROW.

The funeral of Jacob Becker whose death late Monday night robbed El Paso county of one of its oldest and best known pioneers will be held from the family residence between Manitou and Colorado City tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be at Fairview cemetery, Colorado City. All members of the El Paso County Pioneers society, of which Mr Becker was a member, are requested to attend the services. A Z Sheldon, Robert Finley, William Love, Dave McShane, Cal Husted and Anthony Bott will act as honorary pall bearers.

Mr Becker was 63 years of age and his death was due to pneumonia. He had lived in El Paso county thirty-three years. For the last twenty-three years he has run a public resort known as Becker's Place on the boulevard between Manitou and Colorado City and there are few old residents of the Pike's Peak region who were not personally acquainted with Jake Becker.

He is survived by a widow and six children all of whom were at his bedside when he was seized by death. His wife from whom he was divorced four years ago came from Topeka Kan, when she learned that he was dangerously ill.

Mr Becker was a Colorado pioneer in 1859. He operated a blacksmith shop in Denver about that time and came to Colorado City in 1864 and engaged in the same business and later became a prosperous cattle dealer. He leaves an estate of about $150,000 much of which is in business property in Cripple Creek.

WILL BE MARRIED TOMORROW NIGHT

Miss Annie Keller and Mr Fred Moore will be united in marriage tomorrow night at the home of the bride's parents in Avondale. Miss Keller is a handsome and accomplished young lady, well known in the best circles of society. Mr Moore is a worthy young man in the employ of the Fehringer bottling company.

BOYD K. SEAVEY HERE TO VISIT HIS PARENTS

Boyd K Seavey, one of the survivors of the ill-fated United States gunboat Bennington whose boilers exploded in San Diego bay July 21, killing sixty-six and wounding forty-two of her crew, arrived in the city yesterday morning on a furlough to visit with his parents who reside at 212 North Fourth street.

When the explosion occurred young Seavey was below decks and received burns and internal injuries which rendered him helpless for the time. He was taken ashore in an open boat to a hospital, where he lay until August 14 when he and the other injured were taken to the Mare Island hospital in San Francisco bay, where he remained until two weeks ago having undergone an operation for internal injuries in the meantime.

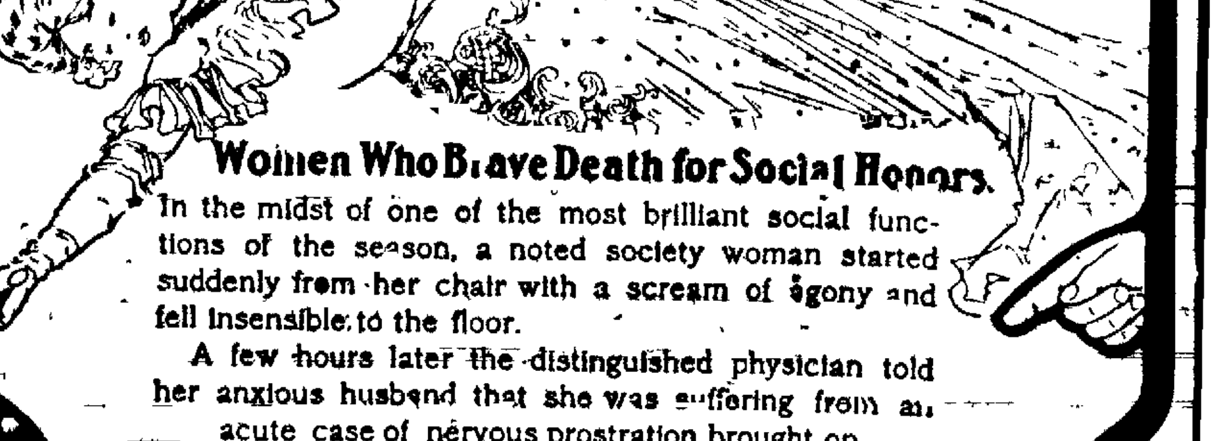
The Ladies' Aid society of the First Baptist church will serve a chicken pie supper in the old library building, 8 North Fifth street, tomorrow evening. Supper will begin at 5 o'clock and last until 8 o'clock.

P A Hardwick will leave this week for Winona, Minn, where his brother who owns a manufacturing plant will make a number of the Hardwick placer gold saving machines. When the sales of the machines will justify the expense, the manufacturing plant will be moved to this city.

Mrs Emma Crum wife of J W Crum died yesterday at 3 o'clock of consumption. She is survived by her father, brother, two sisters, husband and eight-year-old daughter. The funeral will be held this afternoon from the family residence, 117 Monroe avenue, the Rev Charles F Seitter officiating. Interment will be made at Evergreen cemetery in Colorado Springs.

Social Tragedy



Women Who Brave Death for Social Honors.

In the midst of one of the most brilliant social functions of the season, a noted society woman started suddenly from her chair with a scream of agony and fell insensible to the floor.

A few hours later the distinguished physician told her anxious husband that she was suffering from an acute case of nervous prostration brought on by female trouble, and hinted at an operation. Fortunately a friend advised her to try

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The result was that she escaped the surgeon's knife and to-day is a well woman.

The derangement of the delicate female organism sets every nerve in the body quivering with pain. Headaches, backaches, torturing bearing down pains and dragging sensations make women nervous and hysterical.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was troubled for eight years with irregularities which broke down my system and brought on extreme nervousness and hysteria. I could neither enjoy my meals nor sleep nights, became easily irritated and nervous and very despondent. Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved to be the only medicine which helped me. After taking the third bottle, my general health began to improve. At the end of the fifth month I was well and could attend to my household and social duties and enjoy life. MRS CHESTER CURRY, 42 Saratoga Street, East Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Curry, whose portrait appears on the right, is the leader of the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra. The following letter is from Miss Goode, President of the Bryn Mawr Lawn Tennis Club of Chicago:

DEAR MRS PINKHAM:—I tried many different remedies to try to build up my system, which had become run down from lack of proper rest and unseasonable hours, but nothing seemed to help me. Mother is a great advocate of Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles, having used it herself some years ago with great success. So I began to take it, and in less than a month I was able to be out of bed and out of doors, and in three months I was entirely well. Really I have never felt so strong and well as I have since. MISS CORA GOODE, 355 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Pinkham's advice is free to all. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

AWSON CHARGED BY BARRON WITH CRIMINAL LIBEL

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Counsel representing Charles W. Barron stated today after a private hearing today Judge Wentworth of the municipal court had decided to issue a warrant for the arrest of Thos. W. Lawson on a charge of criminal libel, preferred by Mr. Barron. The case rests on statements attested to have been made in a magazine article by Mr. Lawson, and the question of the issuance of a warrant has been the subject of hearings covering a period of several weeks.

Mr. Barron, the complainant, is proprietor of a bureau for the distribution of financial news in this city. Shortly before noon the court issued a warrant according with its decision, and an officer was sent to serve the summons on Mr. Lawson.

Before the warrant had been served an agreement between counsel was reached whereby Mr. Lawson is to appear in court next Saturday and [illegible] the service of the warrant. [illegible] counsel for Mr. Lawson stated the defendant in this suit will [illegible] for a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Barron for criminal libel, in matter printed in the market sheets issued by Mr. Barron's bureau.

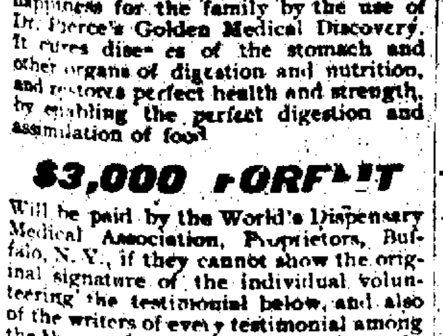
Mr. Lawson, in a statement said that the present action was an echo of a civil suit for $100,000 for libel brought against him by Barrons in 1900 and not [illegible].

MERICANS IN RUSSIA ARE NOT IN ANY DANGER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Ambassador Meyer, who is in Washington to get final instructions from the state department before returning to his post at St. Petersburg, has informed the officials, that in his opinion, there is no danger of injury to Americans or American interests in St. Petersburg at the present moment.

TROUBLE IN VLADIVOSTOK.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—The upheaval in Russia, following the promulgation of the reform manifesto, has now reached Vladivostok and Tomsk and other extreme points of the empire. Confirmation has been obtained from [illegible] sources of the reported uprising at Vladivostok, where the condition of affairs is quite critical. Many persons have been killed and the foreigners have taken refuge on the ships in the harbor. Many public buildings, stores and houses have been pillaged and set fire to by the mob.



Why can't we come over to your house and play any more?

Because papa gets [illegible] and acts as [illegible] a little bit of noise.

What makes him that way?

Mamma says it's dyspepsia [illegible] acts so crazy.

That's about the way it strikes the small boy. The dyspeptic has no idea of his own unreasonableness or harshness. Little things are magnified to seem to justify his quick anger.

There's health for the dyspeptic and happiness for the family by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and restores perfect health and strength, by enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

$3,000 FORFEIT

Will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"I have taken one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for indigestion and liver complaint," writes Mr. C. M. Wilson, of Yadkin College, Davidson Co., N. C. "Have had no bad spells since I commenced taking your medicine—in fact, have not felt like the same man. Before I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I could not eat anything without awful distress, but now I can eat anything I wish without having unpleasant feelings."

AMERICAN FEDERATION WILL AID TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION

PITTSBURG, Nov. 14.—The second day's session of the American Federation of Labor convention was called to order promptly at 9 o'clock by President Gompers. He called John Mitchell, second vice president, to the chair, and James Duncan, first vice president, read the annual report of the executive council. It gave in detail many of the points covered in the report of the president, as to [illegible]. The [illegible] made application for [illegible] claims, but it was denied and the organization was advised to affiliate with the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' International alliance. Arrangements have been made for the consolidation of the two organizations.

There are now a number of organizations not now affiliated with the Federation and the executive council urges that determined efforts be made to bring them into the Federation. It is recommended that unions establish funds in defense of their [illegible].

In the matter of the protection of children the executive council had bills introduced in the legislatures of many states prohibiting the employment of children in mills, factories, mines and industrial establishments.

The progress made during the year was not entirely satisfactory and President Gompers was authorized to enlist the assistance of other organizations in securing the passage of legislation in all states prohibiting the employment of child labor.

It was directed that in the future the executive council shall not interfere in disputes between labor organizations unless the unions involved have exhausted all means to bring about an adjustment of the differences.

An assessment of one cent a member a week for a period of four weeks was levied on the entire membership of the Federation for the benefit of the International Typographical union in its efforts to establish an eight-hour day in the job and commercial printing establishments in the United States and Canada. The Typographical union has levied a substantial assessment for that purpose and all organizations are asked to render all the assistance possible to the printers in their efforts to establish the eight-hour day by January 1, 1906.

The question of immigration was given consideration by the executive committee. It was shown that over 1,000,000 foreigners reached these shores last year and that there would be no decrease in number this year. It was urged that efforts be made to organize this foreign element as the low wages for which they now work are not only insufficient but have a bad effect on all American toilers.

The auditing committee's report showed that the federation is in a good condition and that the report of Treasurer Lennon was correct. The committee on credentials reported in favor of seating of C. P. Shea, president of the Teamsters' union. The recommendation was adopted. The committee also recommended that all the delegates of the unions delinquent on the assessment levied by the Federation of Labor for the benefit of the striking New England textile workers be seated as they had made satisfactory arrangements with the secretary.

The American Federation of Musicians offered a resolution which was adopted, thanking the labor unions of San Francisco for supporting Mayor Schmitz against the enemies of organized labor. A telegram was ordered sent to Mayor Schmitz, informing him of the action taken.

At the afternoon session discussion of tuberculosis, its prevention and cure will be taken up.

EMPEROR NICHOLAS AND HIS COURT AVOID ST. PETERSBURG

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—Emperor Nicholas and the Russian court will not come to St. Petersburg this winter. A short time ago it was announced that the emperor was about to return to the winter palace in an annex of which Count Witte has installed himself, but his majesty has now decided to go from Peterhoff back to Tsarsko-Selo where he has been living for almost two years with the exception of last month spent at Peterhoff.

Except on the occasion of the ceremony of blessing the waters last January, when the emperor narrowly escaped injury, owing to a mysterious charge of grape being fired in the direction of the imperial party by a saluting battery, the emperor has not stepped inside the winter palace for over 18 months. His decision not to come to the capital is regarded as unfortunate, not only for its moral effect, but because it keeps him surrounded by court influences and out of close, immediate touch with Count Witte, who at the present time should have daily, almost hourly conferences with the emperor. Members of his majesty's entourage have strongly advised against the emperor being in St. Petersburg when the national assembly meets, as well as on acount of danger of popular disorders at the capital this winter, recalling to the emperor's mind not without effect the fatal results of Louis XVI agreeing to leave Versailles and put himself at the mercy of the populace of Paris in 1789.

The Polish delegation here is working hard to secure the co-operation of the Liberal, Social Democrats and Workmen's organizations in another general political strike in aid of the Poles' battle for autonomy, but thus far, while they have met with much sympathy, no action has been taken for their assistance, as Count Witte, whom the deputation saw, was extremely firm in declaring emphatically that the movement would do no good for Poland under compulsion and that martial law could not be abolished until the separatist movement ceases. The premier declared that the most the Poles could expect in addition to the rights granted under the reform manifesto was a separate general zemstvo for Poland and municipal self-government.

The Polish delegates say that political Polish prisoners are languishing in the prisons of Warsaw. The radical press today is not sparing in its denunciation of the government's action in putting all Poland under martial law declaring that it is a plain violation of the specific requirement of the manifesto.

LOUIS SAW THE WOMEN; NOW FOR THE HORSES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Prince Louis of Battenberg was the only one of his party today who did not appear to be tired by the round of entertainment which the British officers have received in New York. He left his flagship early to attend a luncheon at Tuxedo, N. Y. His first comment was on the horse show which he attended last night.

"It was wonderful," said the prince, "such beautiful women and such magnificent gowns. But some time before the end of my visit I am going to see the horses."

As the prince left his ship, he passed lines of British sailors who were just returning from their last night's banquet at Coney Island. With many of them were American sailors walking arm in arm with the Britishers.

KILLED IN RUNAWAY.

FORT COLLINS, Nov. 14.—J. E. Burgess was fatally injured in a runaway accident yesterday and died today. Mr. Burgess lived on a ranch seven miles east of Fort Collins, and started to bring a load of hay to town, and fell off the wagon between the horses, causing them to run away. Mr. Burgess had his ribs crushed in, one eye knocked out, and sustained several other injuries. He was moved to his home by neighbors, and died this morning, and is survived by a widow and several children.

PHYSICIAN FINED.

FORT COLLINS, Nov. 14.—Dr. J. B. [illegible], one of the most prominent physicians in Fort Collins, was arrested yesterday afternoon and fined $5 and costs for administering a thrashing to W. E. Fuller, a real estate man. The latter suffered severely at the hands of the physician, and swore out a warrant for his arrest. The trouble occurred in Fuller's offices, and resulted from a difference of opinion over a business deal in which both were involved. After the lie had been passed, the men resorted to fists, and for a few minutes, a genuine prize fight was on.

CANVASSING BOARD AT WORK IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The aldermen of the Greater City met today in their respective boroughs and organized themselves into county boards of canvassers for the purpose of canvassing the vote cast in the election last Tuesday. Twenty-nine Democrats and eight Republicans and Fusionists made up the aldermanic board of canvassers for New York county. The board decided that the votes of twenty-three of its thirty-seven members shall be required to adopt any resolution. It was also decided that three members shall constitute a quorum for contests and [illegible]. This action was protested by Henry Yonge, counsel for W. R. Hearst. The board adjourned until tomorrow without acting on the protest.

SNOW IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Late travelers in this city last night saw the first snow of the season. Several squalls, which were the tail ends of a small blizzard in the northern part of the state, swept over the city shortly after midnight. A train which arrived in the Grand Central station from the west had nearly half an inch of snow on top of the coaches. The flakes that fell in this city melted away as fast as they fell.

TRINIDAD BANK CASE.

TRINIDAD, Colo., Nov. 14.—Judge Ross has ruled that the receiver of the American Savings bank be allowed access to the books of the estate of James Lynch, former president of the bank. The receiver has a claim of $35,000 against the estate which is now denied. He claims that the books of the estate will show that interest on that sum had been paid during the lifetime of Lynch. The estate has a counter claim of $50,000 against the defunct bank.

HENRY H. FAXON DEAD.

QUINCY, Ill., Nov. 14.—Henry H. Faxon, the well-known temperance advocate, a national leader in anti-saloon movements, and one of the wealthiest residents of this city, died at his [illegible] here this morning. Mr. Faxon was 82 years of age and had been in poor health for some time.

Why are the insurance [illegible] of New York trying to stop the New York Life from doing business in their states until the effects of the [illegible] are [illegible] out?

A year ago in Everybody's Magazine, Mr. Lawson exposed the life insurance companies which brought about the investigations now being held.

In November Everybody's Magazine, Mr. Lawson makes the second [illegible].

SECRETARY TAFT IS COMING HOME

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 14.—The United States cruiser Columbia, Commander J. M. Boyer commanding, passed in the capes of Virginia at 7 o'clock this morning, bearing homeward Secretary Taft and party en route from the isthmus of Panama, where the secretary has been on a tour of inspection. The Columbia sailed from Colon, November 7, and after a brief stop at the United States naval station at Guantanamo, Cuba, left that place on Friday last, proceeding directly for Hampton roads. The cruiser upon entering the capes came at once into Hampton roads and dropped anchor. Secretary Taft and party will proceed this evening by steamer to Washington, arriving there early tomorrow morning.

ANNUAL SEED DISTRIBUTION.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The annual distribution of vegetable and flower seeds, by the department of agriculture, will begin December 1 and before planting time, it is expected the entire amount, aggregating 38,000,000 packages, will be in the hands of the people in all sections of the country. Congress for the past several years has appropriated $290,000 for this purpose, but a portion of the amount is used for foreign experiment work and other kindred matters. The bulk of 38,000,000 packages is subject to the order of senators and representatives for distribution among their constituents, the secretary of agriculture reserving one-fifth of the entire amount to supply the statistical crops correspondents, weather bureau and for other purposes. The country has been divided into six sections, with especial regard to the climate and soils, and the seeds will be sent only to those localities in which their propogation and growth is believed to be especially adapted.

In addition to those of the vegetable varieties, the department send out quantities of cotton, forage and field seeds to localities they are best suited and from which it is thought good results may be obtained.

STATE OFFICIALS VISIT NEW IRRIGATION DISTRICT.

DENVER, Nov. 14.—Governor McDonald, Miss Katherine Craig, state superintendent of public instruction; State Engineer Jaycox and Mark G. Woodruff, register of the state land board, went to Julesburg last night.

The purpose of the visit is to examine the proposed Julesburg irrigation district with a probable view of investing some of the state school funds in the bonds. Residents in and around Julesburg have formed an irrigation district under the Lubers-Ong act of the Thirteenth general assembly. The bonds amount to more than $800,000.

RAILROAD CONTRACT LET.

DENVER, Nov. 14.—A contract has been let by the Colorado Southern, New Orleans & Pacific to the Kenefick, Hammond & Quigley Construction company of Kansas City to build 250 miles of road from De Quincy, La., on the Kansas City Southern, east, to Baton Rouge, with a branch running south for fifty miles to connect with the Southern Pacific.

The Colorado Southern, New Orleans & Pacific is the new corporation which came into existence about a month ago in Texas. It embraces all the roads controlled by the Hawley-Yoakum syndicate, of which the Colorado & Southern is one. The letting of this contract is said to be the first step toward connecting Denver with New Orleans directly over the Colorado & Southern tracks.

SCIENTIFIC PUBLICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The number of publications of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, including archaeological, ethnological, medical, mathematical, astronomical, and other works of science, has reached 46, including three now in press. They are chiefly those for which there is no popular demand, but are of great value as reference books in libraries with technical information, which is not available elsewhere. The institution has recently issued a handbook of learned societies, Dr. Fletcher's index to medical literature, and it has in press a catalogue of the stars and planets.

WEDDING POSTPONED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Announcement was made last night that, owing to illness, the wedding of Miss Alice De Goicouria to August Belmont, Jr., which was to have taken place on November 29, has been indefinitely postponed.

Miss De Goicouria is ill with symptoms, it is said, somewhat suggestive of typhoid. Her father, A. N. De Goicouria, said last night that while his daughter's illness was not necessarily serious, it had been thought best to postpone the wedding.

ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

[illegible], Nov. 14.—A [illegible] Fidelity [illegible].

[illegible] W. Bowman, deputy treasurer, [illegible] and [illegible] and whose preliminary hearing on the latter charge was set for hearing today, failed to appear in court and his bond was forfeited.

His attorney notified the court that Bowman had disappeared last night and that his whereabouts was unknown. For many years Bowman has been prominent in state politics.

STEAMER BAVARIA LOST.

Colorado Springs Druggists

Universally Recommend the Use of

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

A personal interview with the druggists shows an unparalleled demand for the little meritorious wonder workers and develops the fact that their patrons recommend their use to their friends after they themselves receive relief from stomach disorders.

More Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold in the "City of Sunshine" than any other like remedy.

The City of Sunshine is full of people who owe thanks to the discovery of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. On every hand is met grateful and happy former sufferers with stomach trouble who have been restored to health through the medium of these nationally popular little tablets. Even confirmed dyspeptics have been restored to health and now view life through more pleasant glasses than before the advent of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. In every instance has there been an enthusiastic indorsement of this really valuable remedy by those who have been cured. Colorado Springs people seem glad and proud to recommend them and do not confuse them with the many patent medicines and nostrums on the market. They are for sale by every drug store where inquiry has been made, and in each one nothing but complimentary testimonials are given.

Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co., the largest store in the city of Colorado Springs, and doing a large wholesale as well as retail business, say: "The sale of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is away ahead of any other dyspepsia remedy, and are one of our best sellers. We often hear customers speak very highly of them and they seem to give universal satisfaction. We have handled Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets ever since they were first manufactured and prize them highly, as customers always come back for more. This in itself is a recommendation few other medicines or remedies obtain, or at least obtain so universally."

Mr. Harrison, speaking for the Harrison Drug Company at 322 North Tejon street, says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best of their kind and we have handled them very successfully for the past four years. They give the best satisfaction of any like remedy and we sell more of them than any other dyspepsia remedy, our customers saying they give better satisfaction than any other remedy they have ever tried."

Henry Tamm, the druggist in the Plaza Hotel at 832 North Tejon street, and who has been in business thirty years, in speaking of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, said: "I have always handled them and have a very large sale to our select trade. They seem to give better satisfaction than any other dyspepsia remedy we handle and we sell more of them by far. We frequently hear our customers speak highly of them, and they must deem them valuable, for they continue to buy them."

The Red Cross Drug Co., successors to Briggs & Cotton, at 116 North Tejon street, say: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets enjoy a good sale with us, and they seem to give satisfaction, as our customers come back for them regularly. In fact many customers express themselves as liking them better than other dyspepsia remedies."

Colorado Springs Drug Company at 101 South Tejon street, in speaking of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, said: "None others sell so well, and our sales are quite large. We have sold them ever since we started in business, six years ago and they have given entire satisfaction, and our customers speak well of them and their efficacy. It is one of our most popular sellers."

W. J. Musick, of the Musick Pharmacy, 119 E. Fontanero street, doing business in one of the best residence sections of Colorado Springs, said: "I have sold Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for the past eight years and have found them very satisfactory. They enjoy a good sale among my trade and we often hear our customers speak well of them."

Manager Donaldson of the Robinson Drug Co., who probably does one of the largest businesses in the city, owing to their location at the business hub of the city, corner Pike's Peak avenue and Tejon street, said, in speaking of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets: "They are one of the most popular remedies we sell, and we handle about everything. They sell easily and always with satisfaction and we sell more of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets than any other kind. Our customers often remark they prize them highly, and evidently they do from the quantity we sell."

D. Y. Butcher, the popular druggist at corner of Nevada avenue and Pike's Peak, and who do a large business, said: "They are one of our best selling articles and we sell much more of them than any other like remedy. Our customers often recommend them to others and the advertising in The Gazette has made a wonderful sale for them, as the remedy seems to have merit. We wish we had more good sellers like them."

C. E. Smith the druggist at 117 South Tejon street, also speaks well of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, he selling more of them than any other dyspepsia remedy. "They seem to give satisfaction, as we often hear complimentary remarks about them from our customers. We have always handled them, and they are a good seller."

Otto Fehringer, of 26 South Tejon street, says: "We have often heard our customers speak highly of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and they enjoy a large sale. We possibly sell more of them than any other dyspepsia remedy. We have handled them as long as we can remember and have always counted them one of our best remedies."

"No other remedy sells just so well as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets," says Mr. Korsmeyer, of the Korsmeyer Drug Company, at 8 South Tejon street. "Our patrons use them liberally and always speak well of them. We have always sold them since starting in business, and they give eminent satisfaction."

For the Crupser Drug Company at 124 South Tejon street, Mr. Crapser says: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are one of my best sellers. We have handled them for five years and our patrons speak very highly of them for dyspepsia and stomach disorders. We have a large demand for them, and it seems to be increasing."

One of the best recommendations any remedy may have is to have it known as "a repeater," as the druggists term it, or a remedy which has the merit in it to bring the customer back again and again to purchase the remedy. In this connection Mr. Way, of the D. S. Way Drug Co., at 1 West Huerfano street, says of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets: "They invariably repeat, and our customers find them a splendid remedy, and they often so express themselves. We have sold them for two years, and sell more of them than any other remedy. This is proof of the satisfaction our customers receive from them."

Speaking for the Bissel Pharmacy of 802 North Weber street, Mr. Bissel said: "We would not be afraid to order any amount of them, for they are the best seller we have. Located as we are in the North End residence section not all remedies can receive this testimonial, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are bought in large numbers by our best people and they recommend them, often commenting on the relief received from them. We have always handled them and always will."

Charles Zobrist, of 109 North Tejon street, has sold Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for the past 32 years and says they are the best seller of the kind he has on his shelves. "Their immense sale probably results from the recommendation of one customer to another, as we often hear them speak words of praise of the remedy when they come in to purchase. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are one of the best remedies of its kind that is made."

D. E. Monroe Drug Company, corner North Tejon and Bijou streets, said: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Remedy is the best in its class. They give universal satisfaction and the demand is large. With the advertising in The Gazette and the personal recommendation to each other it is one of the best sellers we have. We have sold them since first manufactured and are not afraid to handle them in any quantity."

A. J. Ward of The Owl Drug Company, with one of the best locations in Colorado Springs, says: "As a rule we sell more of Stuart's Dyspepsia Remedy than any other of its kind. We have handled them since they were on the market and our customers express themselves as getting [illegible] from their use. They are a good seller."

George M. Davis, of 115 East Pike's Peak avenue, in speaking of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, said: "We have handled them almost since entering in business and sell more of them than any other dyspepsia remedy. They give satisfaction and are well recommended."

GRAINS RALLY

Comparatively Small Increase in World's Visible Supply Has Bullish Effect.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Initial quotations in the wheat market showed fair [illegible] May [illegible] The market [illegible] was influenced [illegible] by the unexpected strength at Liverpool, the weakness of yesterday [illegible] Chicago having apparently little [illegible] the English market. According [illegible] foreign statistician the advance at Liverpool was the result of [illegible] from Argentina [illegible] the effect [illegible] had been wrought [illegible] in the northern [illegible] districts by rain followed by frost. There was seemingly [illegible] uneasiness [illegible] the situation in New York. [illegible] wheat at Minneapolis [illegible] An urgent demand [illegible] incentive [illegible] the purchase of options. Another bullish influence was the comparatively small increase in the world's visible supply. As shown by Bradstreet's available stocks [illegible] increased [illegible] 1,990,000 bushels [illegible] compared [illegible] bushels for the corresponding week a year ago. [illegible] May reached the highest point of the day. Final quotations were at 88[illegible].

The corn market ruled firm throughout the day. Export demand showed [illegible] and this increased the bullish sentiment. The market closed strong, final quotations being almost [illegible] highest point of the market. May [illegible] higher at 44[illegible] sold up to 44[illegible] and closed at 44[illegible].

The volume of trading in oats was small, but the market held firm in sympathy with the strength of wheat and corn. [illegible] export demand was also [illegible] May opened unchanged to ⅛ higher at 30¾@[illegible], advanced to 3[illegible] and closed at 3[illegible].

Provisions were weak as a result of continued selling of lard by local packers. Shorts were the chief buyers. A decline of 10c in the price of live hogs had a depressing effect on the price of all other products. At the close May pork was off 10c at $12.67½. Lard was off [illegible] at $6.[illegible]. Ribs were [illegible] lower at $6.72½.

BIG TWENTY FAST NEARING ORE BODY

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—It is believed by the management of the Big Twenty company operating on Grouse mountain that it will not be necessary to drive more than 150 feet to reach the vein system in which it is suspected that reward will be found. The breast of the adit is about 1,350 feet from its portal. At the breast a depth of 1,000 feet or more has been attained. Talc and other good indications are being encountered. Several veins were opened in surface prospecting. These are of promising appearance and are of the system which the bore is approaching. The Big Twenty adit is not far from the Window in the Rock where work on the great drainage tunnel is to be started.

SHIPMENT GOES OUT FROM HENRY ADNEY

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—A carload of ore shipped today by M. B. Burke from the Henry Adney mine of Beacon hill is expected to yield $40 to the ton. It was broken from a seven-foot shoot at a depth of 385 feet. Burke is shipping at the rate of a carload a week. In the meantime he is developing this and another ore shoot and is prospecting for a third. The shaft is being sunk at good speed. It [illegible] 450 feet.

TWO CARLOADS SHIPPED FROM JERRY JOHNSON

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—Two cars of ore left the Jerry Johnson this week. It was broken by the Gilpin leasing company at a depth of 370 feet on a body of good size that will yield about $15 to the ton. A crosscut is being driven from the bottom level at a depth of 560 feet to intersect the vein that is now responding 200 feet above.

KNIGHT STARTS SHIPPING ANCHORIA LELAND DUMP

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 14.—No time is being lost by E. F. Knight in removing the Anchoria dump, which he recently bought of the Anchoria Leland company. The first carload left today, and other cars are to follow each day until the mass is disposed of. It goes to the Economic mill.

M'CLELLAN'S MOTHER IS PLEASED AT ELECTION.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Mrs. George B. McClellan, mother of Mayor McClellan, arrived here yesterday on the Red Star liner Zeeland from Antwerp. She was greatly pleased when reference was made to the mayor's re-election.

"I am delighted to know my son has been elected for the second term," said Mrs. McClellan. "He has always been a dutiful son and must needs be a good righteous executive."

ACT OF INSANE WOMAN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Benjamin Geist, suddenly becoming insane, hurled her five-year-old son Lucas from a third story window today. She then attempted suicide but was arrested. The child fell into a basket of crockery which had been placed on the street in front of a store and will die.

ROBBED IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

DENVER, Nov. 14.—In broad daylight Thurman DeKovend, a Frenchman living two miles beyond Cherrelyn, was held up and robbed of $30 yesterday afternoon as he was on the University avenue bridge. [illegible] the police [illegible] for the two men who, according to DeKovend, were implicated in the robbery.

MISS LOUISE A. WILLIAMS.

Miss Louise A. Williams, the young southern artist and dialect reader, will be heard at the Opera house Thursday night.

Miss Williams delineates in her dialect stories the old time negro as many of his kind exist in the south today. The happy-go-lucky existence, the shadows of sorrow and misfortune, the terrors of superstition and religious ceremonies—these are handled with the human touches which only a native of the south who has studied the negro at close range is capable of doing.

Miss Williams' dialect stories are interspersed by old-time plantation songs sung by the Dixie quartet, comprised of negroes whose voices possess all the quaint cadence characteristic of the voices of their race. During the evening the orchestra will render southern melodies.

AMUSEMENTS

"A THOROUGHBRED TRAMP."

Elmer Walters' "A Thoroughbred Tramp," which appears at the Opera house Saturday afternoon and evening, carries a thorough equipment for the presentation of the play. Much pains have been taken to make the new third act, the hospital ward for the foundlings, natural and picturesque. "A Thoroughbred Tramp" unquestionably excels all other dramas of its class and certain it is that the comedy element is very hilarious.

T. Hugh Thompson is one of the most humorous character parts ever conceived, and though but a vagabond the [illegible] carries prestige with the regular theater-goer. They will give a family matinee at 3 o'clock and a performance in the evening. Matinee prices will be 25 and 50 cents. Evening prices, 50c, 75c and $1.00.

"THE SHO-GUN."

The Korean comic opera, "The Sho-Gun," is announced as the attraction which Mr. Henry W. Savage will offer at the Opera house this evening—and in this first joint effort of George Ade and Gustav Luders, the play-goers of this city will see an opera which has marked an epoch in the stage history of this country for it is the fore-runner of better things yet to come, an indication of a return to the former plane of musical works when comic operas were constructed strongly, with consistent plots, intelligent lyrics and wholesome and tuneful music. That there has been much to commend "The Sho-Gun" to the attention of all discriminating play-goers may be believed when it is known that for six months it was the attraction at Wallack's theater, New York. The Studebaker theater, Chicago, housed it for five months and at the Tremont theater, Boston, it remained four months. Other of the principal cities last season saw "The Sho-Gun" and this season is in the nature of "repeat engagements" for the greater part of the year will be given up to playing again in those cities where it scored so strongly last year.

In the book and lyrics of "The Sho-Gun," Mr. Ade gives of his very best efforts. The wit for which he has been so long famed is ever present in the dialogue and in the musical numbers and when taken in a combination with Gustav Luders' music it should well be classed as the foremost comic opera of the day.

It is in the brilliancy of the lyrics that a great part of the success of "The Sho-Gun" has been made. The "Ade-isms" with which the people of this country have for so long a time been [illegible] through the medium of "The County Chairman," "The College Widow," and other productions [illegible] the [illegible] Ade [illegible] talk, are [illegible] to good advantage in this offering. The music, all exquisite, only [illegible] of it [illegible] than others, makes [illegible] despite the failure of a single number. [illegible] chief of all the successes may be mentioned, "You're Just a Little Different from the Others That I Know," "Flutter Little Birdie," "I Am Yours Truly," "Schemes," "To Teach the Young Idea How to Shoot," "Our Honeymoon Will Last," and others.

"KILTIES BAND" COMING.

"The Kilties Band" are booked to give two performances at the Opera house next Monday afternoon and evening at popular prices. H. S. Rogers of the Denver Republican, in speaking of their concert says: "In bright Scottish costumes "The Kilties Band" appeared in two performances at the Broadway theater yesterday. The audiences of both, afternoon and evening, were very good in point of numbers and seemed thoroughly delighted with the programs. The Scotch societies of Denver were well represented.

In appearance the Kilties outdo any [illegible] the country, and musically the organization is well up to the standard. [illegible] about fifty and is [illegible] Gilliland, a striking figure [illegible] than six feet in height and very capable in his conduct of the organization.

The program yesterday afternoon was especially well selected, ranging from classic pieces to well known Scottish airs, interspersed with interesting dances by well drilled men and women. Leonard D'Auau played a euphonium solo, and Pipe Major Albert Johnstone played bagpipe solos, several encores being called for. The Kilties choir, in "Coming Through the Rye" and other songs, closing with "Annie Laurie," made a fine impression on the audience. Harry Yarzelle Mercer sang a tenor solo. Novelties in the second part of the afternoon program, and the entertainment concluded with Godfrey's "Reminiscences of Scotland."

PARIS BEAUTY DOCTOR TO LECTURE HERE TO WOMEN ON BEAUTY CULTURE

The manager of Dr. Christion, of Paris, France, the famous Beauty Scientist, known and recognized as its foremost authority on Facial Blemishes, has secured Temple Theater for two lectures, the first one being free, and to women only, Tuesday afternoon, November 21, at 2:30 o'clock. Dr. Christion is making a tour of the United States, having heard so much of Colorado Springs, and now lecturing in Denver at the Women's Club, consented to visit Colorado Springs for pleasure, and at the same time giving the ladies two lectures on Beauty Culture and Facial Blemishes, of which he is a scientific exponent. This gentleman has lectured many times before the nobilities of Europe. His talks will reveal much of interest to women.

One of the attractions in the amusement line that will present itself to the public next week is Pearson's Minstrels. Pearson's Literary society of Colorado college two years ago gave an original production of the comic opera, "Rip Van Winkle." Those who remember the efforts of the society at that time can testify to the peculiar talents displayed by those who took part. It is universally acknowledged to be the best presentation of its kind ever given in Colorado Springs. Many of the ablest participants in that attempt are taking prominent parts in the minstrel and judging from the usual spirit of "unity and push" which characterizes the work of Pearsonians this will be even better than former undertakings in theatrical lines.

MATINEE—The Woman's Relief Corps, Grand Army of the Republic, will be given a benefit matinee at the Empire theater Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and they are interested in having their members and friends patronize the show. The regular bill of the week will be staged.

MUSICALE—The next general meeting of the Woman's club will be a matinee musicale under the direction of Mrs. H. H. Seldomridge, to be given Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in G. A. R. hall. Shakespearean songs, illustrated, will be the subject of the delightful program which Mrs. Seldomridge has prepared.

REALTY SOLD—W. W. Williamson of 27 North Tejon street, reports the sale of a five-room cottage at 813 East Kiowa street from J. H. Marshal to F. M. Kent for a consideration of $1,700. Mr. Williamson also negotiated the transfer of title to the property at 722 Monroe avenue, Colorado City, from Frank M. Kent to C. M. Coleman for a consideration of $1,200.

COURT NEWS

All three of the district court judges are out of the city. Judge W. P. Seeds is holding court at Cripple Creek, Judge L. W. Cunningham is at Castle Rock holding a session of the district court, and Judge R. E. Lewis is occupying the bench of the district court at Littleton.

The Valley Forge Gold Mining company yesterday filed its answer to the complaint made by H. B. Neff, admitting that the defendant gave the plaintiff a promissory note for $1,400 bearing interest at 10 per cent per annum, and that the amount is due and unpaid excepting $100 which was paid on September 30, 1905. The answer denies that the plaintiff is entitled to $150 for attorney fees in connection with the suit, but admits a willingness to pay $50 fees.

The trial of the damage suit of S. Jones vs. R. C. Hall was concluded in the county court last evening. The case comes up before the court upon appeal from Justice Ruby's court where the plaintiff was awarded $200 damages for personal injuries caused by an assault with a shovel.

In the court of Justice Ruby yesterday Kate Goddard was fined $1 and costs for the larceny of a dog.

Don't miss the next excursion over The Short Line to the Cripple Creek gold camp, Thursday, November 16. $2.50 for the round trip. Train leaves at 10:20 a. m. from the Santa Fe-Colorado & Southern depot.

CITY SCHOOLS ARE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION

At a meeting of the school board, held last night at the High school building, Superintendent John Dietrich presented his monthly report which showed that the city schools are now in better condition than they have been for several years. The total enrollment is 4,800 and the average daily attendance 4,300, about 150 better than at this time last year.

The next popular $2.50 excursion to Cripple Creek over The Short Line will be run on Thursday, November 16.
